To the Media:

The Milwaukee Bucks would like to welcome members of the media to the Milwaukee Arena. Our entire organization has an appreciation for your efforts and aims and will assist you in any way possible. In return, the coverage the media has afforded us throughout our years in the NBA has been superb and we appreciate your dedication. The following are some of the services we will provide and some of the things we ask of you to help us run our operation smoothly.

- * Individual game credentials should be requested a minimum of 30 hours prior to game time (Friday noon for Saturday and Sunday games). Pre-arranged credentials may be picked up at the will-call window in the southwest corner of the Arena just off the Kilbourn Street entrance. Credentials are good for admittance to the Arena, Press Room, and home and visiting locker rooms. Media members holding Bucks' season passes should notify this office of their intentions to cover a game in order to reserve seating on the press table. All press seating in the Milwaukee Arena is on court level.

- * The press room is located on court level in the northeast corner of the Arena. The room opens 1½ hours before the game and again at halftime and following the game. Secure storage of typewriters, coats, and the like is available. We must limit press room usage to members of the media only when valid Bucks' press passes are presented. It is impossible to accommodate family members, friends, guests, or others. The professional intent of the room is to provide a meeting and working place for bonafide writers, reporters, broadcasters, and game personnel.

- * Both the Bucks' and visitors' locker rooms will be open up to 45 minutes before game time and ten minutes after the game. Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a work atmosphere in the locker rooms for post-game interviews. Those newspapers with morning deadlines and TV stations doing live spots should be given preference in obtaining players and coaches. Basically common courtesy should prevail.

- * Special instructions for all cameramen can be found on the back of the season photo passes and on the envelopes in which the single game passes are issued.

- * Pre-game press notes, lineup and scoring sheets, and the current program insert will be available in the Press Room before the game. Programs will be available on a limited basis. Play-by-play, quarter stats, and half-time box scores will be delivered directly to the press table. Please keep sets quarter-by-quarter. A limited number of play-by-play sheets and halftime boxes will be available in the Press Room after the game. Complete final boxes and fourth quarter play-by-plays will be available after the game in the Press Room.

- * The Bucks provide complimentary telecopier service at every home game. Harold Lewis operates the service. Special arrangements to file off day stories or the like can be made through the Bucks publicity office. Any writers who need to rent video relay terminals to file stories, should contact the Bucks publicity office at least one week in advance of the game to secure arrangements.

Cordially,
Bill King II

1981-82 SCHEDULE FORMAT

The 23 teams of the National Basketball Association will operate under an "unbalanced" schedule as adopted by the Board of Governors during the League meetings in Washington D.C. in 1979. The schedule is similar to that of the last two seasons when the format was designed to enhance inter-conference rivalries and save on travel expenses. The format calls for each team to play teams within their own conference six times (except two clubs — blind draws were held to determine the matchups), three each at home and on the road. The schedule format differs from that the League operated under the previous three seasons when each club faced 19 opponents four times each and two opponents three times.

The schedule underwent another revision during the summer of 1980 when the Board of Governors, meeting in Los Angeles, voted to begin and end three weeks later (October 30-April 18) than in the past, but remain the same in length — 171 days. For Milwaukee it means the latest home opening date in club history (previous was October 25 in 1975). All in all, the 23 NBA teams will play 943 regular season contests.

The vote to push the start of the season back to the end of October was done to avoid possible conflicts with baseball's World Series (the Board of Governors vote and preliminary scheduling took place before the Major League baseball player's strike) and also to extend the playoffs past television's spring Nielsen ratings, thus clearing the way for the NBA World Championship series to be aired in prime time.

The Bucks will remain in the Eastern Conference for the second consecutive year after having entered the NBA in 1968 in the east (Phoenix entered the west the same time). Milwaukeeans will be afforded the opportunity of frequently seeing the strength of last season's top three regular season finishers. Eastern Conference and eventual NBA Champion Boston tied with Eastern Conference runner-up Philadelphia for the best regular season record last season (62-20), closely followed by Milwaukee's mark of 60-22.

The schedule has the Bucks premiering the 14th edition of the club on the road Friday, October 30 at Detroit before making their home debut on Saturday, October 31 against the NBA World Champion Boston Celtics.

Milwaukee will close the regular season April 18 on the road with what could be a pivotal game against Eastern Conference arch rival Philadelphia. The longest road trip of the season encompasses five games and occurs just once during the season. From January 20th through the 28th, Milwaukee plays at Dallas, Denver, Golden State, Los Angeles, and Utah to comprise the longest road trek of the campaign.

The longest homestand of the season encompasses a five game stretch from March 10 through March 21 against the Bulls, Supersonics, Jazz, 76ers, Cavaliers, and Nets. The schedule has the Bucks playing at home on 11 Sundays, no Mondays, eight Tuesday dates, five Wednesdays, three Thursdays, 12 Fridays, and two Saturdays.

While the Bucks are opening the 1981-82 campaign in the Motor City vs. the Pistons, New Jersey will be celebrating with the inaugural regular season contest in the Brendan Byrne Arena at the Meadowlands Complex in New Jersey that same night. The new arena will have a seating capacity of 20,149 for basketball.

The Mississippi River is the dividing line separating the Eastern and Western Conferences. In order to determine which teams would play uneven amounts of games against teams within their own conference, the schedule was prepared by assigning teams within a division numbers one through five or one through six. Blind draws were held to assign a team the schedule which corresponds to the number it selected. Milwaukee drew uneven games against Washington (for the second consecutive year) and New Jersey. The Nets will visit the Brew City just twice while the Bucks play the Bullets in the Capital Centre two times.

The 1981-82 schedule will provide family activity for the Thanksgiving Holiday with a game on Friday, November 27 vs. Golden State. The Bucks will have one Friday the 13th appearance during this, their 14th season in the NBA. The New York Knickerbockers come to town November 13th. Milwaukee plays three games in a row (on successive days) just once during the course of the season. That's a break from last year when the schedule called for three game skeins on four occasions. This year the club will play Indiana, New York, and Philadelphia on December 11, 12, and 13.

The home and road split of games is fairly well balanced over the course of the season for Milwaukee. By months the club splits their schedule at; October, 1 home and 1 road; November, 7 home and 6 road; December, 8 home and 6 road; January, 6 home and 9 road; February, 6 home and 7 road; March, 8 home, 7 road; and April, 5 each.

The lone Arena appearance by the Houston Rockets from the Lone Star State, runner-up for the NBA crown, will be Wednesday, December 9th. Other single stops are to be made by the defending Pacific Division champion Phoenix Suns on February 7th, by the Midwest Division champion San Antonio Spurs on November 29, and by Western Conference powers Los Angeles on January 10th, and Kansas City December 22nd.

The general rule of thumb for game times in the Milwaukee Arena is: Sunday through Thursday 7:30 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays 8:00 p.m. The exceptions are two dates to accommodate USA Network national cablecasts of games on Sunday, January 3 vs. Denver and Thursday, February 11 vs. Portland. Those possible USA Network games will tip off at 7:10 p.m. In addition four starting times were set to benefit CBS Sports starting in February. Sunday games on February 7, March 14, and March 21 will begin at 1:30 p.m. while on April 4 tipoff time will be 12 noon. Refer to the schedule on the back cover for correct times.

In the friendly confines of the Milwaukee Arena, the Bucks have won 70.7% of their games in the thirteen year history of the franchise.

The League's annual All-Star game will be played at the Meadowlands Arena on Sunday afternoon, January 31, while the Hall of Fame exhibition game in Springfield, Massachusetts, matching the Boston Celtics and Denver Nuggets, is scheduled for Monday night, October 26, four days before the start of the regular season.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

The winners of the four division races will receive first round byes in the playoffs under the formula approved by the Board of Governors of the National Basketball Association.

Under the 12-team playoff format, the third, fourth, fifth and sixth teams in each conference will take part in the first round.

In that round, all best-of-three series, the team with the third best conference record meets the team with the sixth best record, while the fourth and fifth teams face each other.

The division champions with the best record in their respective conferences will begin play in the next round facing the winner of the series between the fourth and fifth place teams. The other division champion in each conference will go against the winner of the series between the third and sixth clubs. Both series will be the best-of-seven with the winners meeting for the conference championship in another best-of-seven series.

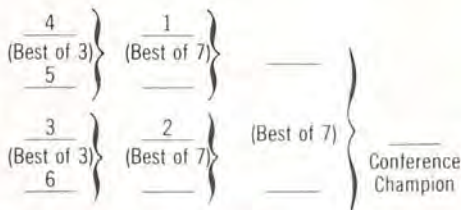

Then, the league championship will be decided in the traditional best-of-seven series between the conference champions.

In all cases, the team with the higher percentage during the season will have the odd game at home.

The playoff formula to determine the conference champions is shown below:

CONFERENCE PLAYOFF:

(NOTE: The division leaders in each Conference automatically make the playoffs. Then the next four teams in each Conference with the highest won-lost percentages. The teams are then ranked one through six with the division leaders always one and two.)

BROADCAST INFORMATION

Radio broadcasts of all Milwaukee Bucks home and away games are originated by WTMJ, Milwaukee's NBC radio affiliate at 620 on the AM dial. Games are fed to a statewide network of over 20 stations throughout Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

Jim Irwin is the "Voice of the Bucks" and will be joined courtside by original Buck Jon McGlocklin for color commentary on 41 home games.

1981-82 TELEVISION SCHEDULE WVTV-CHANNEL 18

The Milwaukee Bucks will televise 20 road games back to Milwaukee on WVTV-Channel 18 during the 1981-82 regular season. The 20 televised games marks an increase of two over last year's schedule and represents the most road games ever carried by Channel 18. The games will also be carried over the Bucks television network that includes WLRE-TV in Green Bay. Negotiations were underway at press time to include the markets of Madison, Eau Claire, LaCrosse, and Wausau.

Tipping off the TV schedule is a Saturday night game, December 12 from Madison Square Garden as the Bucks meet the New York Knickerbockers at 7:00 p.m.

There is a two week hiatus in the TV schedule before the bulk of the programming gets underway on Saturday, December 26 at 7:00 p.m. when the Bucks travel to Cleveland to take on the Cavaliers, their Central Division rival. In all, three games will be televised in December, six in January, three in February, six in March, and two in April.

The schedule will enable Bucks fans to see 16 of 22 different NBA opponents. Twelve of the slated games are against Eastern Conference teams with the balance vs. Western Conference clubs.

Channel 18 will televise three of five games on the Bucks longest road trip of the season on a western swing starting January 22 at Denver, the next night at Golden State, and January 26 in Los Angeles.

Highlights of the schedule include a January 13 meeting with 1981 playoff foe Philadelphia, a March 9 meeting with Western Conference Champion Houston, and a matchup with the NBA World Champion Boston Celtics April 14.

The Bucks and WVTV are currently in the second year of a three year agreement. The pact gives WVTV the rights to air selected road games during the regular season, as well as any road playoff contests that are not selected for national network coverage through the NBA television contract with CBS Sports.

Eddie Doucette and Jon McGlocklin will continue to provide play-by-play and color analysis in the coming season. Doucette called the shots for the Bucks for eleven seasons on both radio and television before moving to San Diego two years ago. He now concentrates on the televised games. McGlocklin is in his sixth season of color commentary, having moved behind the mike in 1976 after retiring as an active player.

SUMMARY OF 1981-82 MAJOR RULES CHANGES & TECHNIQUES

1. Strict enforcement and additional guidelines for three-second defensive lane violation. The following guidelines apply for defensive coverage:
 - a. Weakside defenders may be in defensive position within the outside lane (16') with no time limit but within the inside lane (12') for no longer than 2.9 seconds.
 - b. Defender is allowed within inside lane as long as he is closely guarding a player adjacent to the 3-second lane.
 - c. Player without the ball may not be double-teamed from weak side.
 - d. Any offensive player may be double-teamed from strong side.
 - e. Offensive player above foul line and inside circle must be played by a defender inside dotted line.
 - f. If offensive player is above top of circle, defender must come to a position above foul lane or remain in either outside lane.
 - g. Defender on cutter must follow the cutter, switch or double-team the ball.
2. Penalties for illegal defensive alignment.
On the first violation, the 24-second clock is reset. The clock is reset and a free throw awarded on the second and all succeeding violations. If a violation occurs during the last 24 second of each quarter or overtime period, the offended team receives one free throw. On all of the above, the offended team retains possession.
3. Backcourt fouls.
Will be considered common fouls until the offending team is over the limit. Then two shots will be awarded.
4. Free throws after successful field goal.
A player fouled on a successful field goal will attempt only one free throw (not for 2-for-1).
5. Free throws after unsuccessful field goal.
A player fouled on an unsuccessful field goal attempt will shoot two free throws (not 3-for-2).
6. Putting ball in play (technique).
The following will be the new technique on violations which necessitate putting the ball in play in the backcourt only: "The official will give the ball to the offensive player as soon as the player is in position out of bounds and ready to accept the ball."
7. New basket rims.
A collapsible rim (Toss Back) has been adopted after being tested in last year's NBA pre-season, CBA games, and Southern California Summer Pro League games after the addition of further safety features.
8. Clarification of substitution rule.
A player must report to an area within four feet of either side of the scorer with warm-ups removed before referee beckons player into game. League will provide scorer with official black-and-white striped cap to aid player in reporting.

BUCKS SUMMER BASKETBALL CAMPS

Ron Blomberg — Director

The Milwaukee Bucks Summer Basketball Camps program is a unique basketball education program that operates week-long, day and boarding camps for young players aged 8 to 18 throughout the Midwest. Just last summer the camps became part of Medalist Industries' Sports Education Division. Ron Blomberg, formerly an administrative assistant and Director of the Milwaukee Bucks Summer Camps joined the Medalist Sports Education staff and continues to direct the Bucks Summer Camps.

The Milwaukee Bucks Camps program began in 1969 and has helped thousands of boys and girls aged 8-18 at campsites throughout the Midwest. The program operated at ten sites and attracted more than 2,500 campers during 20 weeks of basketball instruction in 1981.

Behind the unique camp program is Blomberg who pioneered the summer basketball camp program in Wisconsin. His thorough understanding of the game coupled with his teaching talents, are naturals for the camp program. Since their inception the camps have drawn close to an estimated 30,000.

The consolidation of the Bucks camps with the Medalist Sports Education Division makes sense. "Combining the strengths of the Medalist and Bucks programs will provide our campers with the best available sports programs offered to young people," said Howard Fagan, Sports Education Division president. "We are obviously pleased to have Ron Blomberg at Medalist because his continuing contribution to the program adds to its success."

Before joining Medalist, Ron had been with the Bucks for over a decade. He has a wealth of experience on which to draw as he coached on the high school level in Wisconsin for 22 years. Ron graduated from the University of Wisconsin and was a member of the varsity basketball squad there for three years. His coaching career began in Peshtigo, Wisconsin, and during his six years there his team notched three basketball championships. He coached 12 years at Brookfield Central High School, in Brookfield, Wisconsin, and coached five league championship squads there. His 1964-65 team placed fourth in the Wisconsin state tournament.

As a clinic speaker and general lecturer, Ron is much in demand to service clubs in and around the Milwaukee area. Nicknamed "The Professor" several years ago while performing the color commentary for the Bucks radio broadcasts, Ron occasionally steps behind the mike on various pro, college, and high school games.

This season he joins Ted Moore behind the mike in providing color analysis for the University of Wisconsin radio broadcasts.

SPORTTRAITS

Sportraits Incorporated is a division of Milwaukee Professional Sports and Services which specializes in original sports artwork. Sportraits innovates commercial sports art projects. The corporation is based upon the talent of one of the nation's foremost artists and illustrators, George W. Pollard. MILWAUKEE BUCKS FILM LIBRARY AND SPEAKERS BUREAU

The Milwaukee Bucks have an extensive film library available for your school, church, civic or special interest group. Topics of the films range from highlight films of the Bucks, All-Star game highlights and the NBA World Championship Playoff highlights.

The Milwaukee Bucks speakers bureau has front office personnel, members of the coaching staff and players available for speaking engagements. The availability of a coach or player depends upon team commitments pertaining to games and practice schedules. There is a minimum fee of $250 for a player or coach. For complete information contact the Bucks at 414/272-6030.

If you'd like to have a film for a presentation at your school or meeting, simply drop a line on your group's letterhead to Bill King II, Publicity Director, Milwaukee Bucks, 901 North Fourth Street, Milwaukee, WI. 53203. The letter should request the film or films (maximum of two (2) films at one time) with alternate choices and a preferred date for viewing along with a backup date. A deposit check payable to the Milwaukee Bucks in the amount of $25 for each film should be included with the letter. The check will be returned upon return receipt of the film or films in good condition. All films are 16mm with full color and sound. The projector and screen are not included. Films must be picked up and returned to the Bucks' office at 901 North Fourth Street, Milwaukee, WI. unless other arrangements are made. Requests must be made a minimum of one month in advance. The Bucks have the following films available in their library:

- "GREEN & GROWING" — 1977-78 highlight film on the Bucks — 12-15 minutes.
- "THE SKY'S THE LIMIT" — 1979-80 highlight film of the Bucks playoff series vs. Seattle — approximately 12-15 minutes (Available October 1980).
- "ALMOST PERFECT" — 1973-74 highlight film on the Bucks — approximately 30 minutes.

MECCA'S GEOMETRIC COURT Designed by Robert Indiana

The design on the court you see before you was developed by Robert Indiana. Indiana has said of himself, "I am an American painter of signs charting the course. I would be a people's painter as well as a painter's painter."

Succinctly he has explained his aims, and at the same time the reasons for his success, of which there can be no doubt. Since his first art show in 1960, Mr. Indiana's art has been seen and acclaimed internationally. The floor design along with LeRoy Nieman's "Basketball Superstars" painting for the 1977 All-Star Game in Milwaukee is the second major piece of art nationally recognized to have originated from Milwaukee.

Robert Indiana has established a lasting reputation as an artist who paints America. He paints about his country; its people; and about himself; as well as about the traditions and cultures we all know. Because his art speaks of the nature of our land and the American people, Robert Indiana is destined to be among the great American masters such as: Winslow Homer, Thomas Eakins, and Edward Hooper.

Indiana is one of the leaders of the Pop Art movement of the 1960's and 70's. The trademarks of his art are the lettered signs, directional symbols, commercial illustrations; precise shapes; and intensely active colors. His art has been referred to as American as apple pie. He deals with signs of life in both vocabulary and form. Like highway signs, his paintings are geometric shapes with bright, bold numbers and letters upon them. LOVE is perhaps his most famous series of paintings.

Claiming the same hometown as Former Buck Kent Benson in New Castle, Indiana, Mr. Indiana's works are on display across the country, and such institutions as the Carnegie Institute of Arts in Pittsburgh, the Chicago Museum of Contemporary Art, the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City, Yale and Princeton Universities, and the Milwaukee Art Center all own works by Indiana. Previously Indiana has been commissioned to redesign the U.S. one cent piece by ART IN AMERICA, a mural for the New York State Pavilion at the New York World's Fair, and by the United States Government to design a Special Stamp for Someone Special in the denomination of 8 cents and issued originally in Philadelphia in 1973 just to name a few prominent works.

Robert Indiana has lived and worked in New York since 1954.

The court itself is the same that has been in use during past seasons. Before being painted, it was completely refinished and sealed. Indiana did not actually paint the court, that task was contracted to a local sign painting company. Indiana signed the court of the southwest corner with a can of spray paint and a specially prepared stencil. Mr. Indiana also designed the banners that hang above the upper parquet around the Arena. The colors will also be picked up in the outer lobbies as MECCA plans to refurbish those facilities. Total cost of the project approaches $40,000 with a portion of that to be recouped by the sale of banners and posters similar to those in the Arena.

COMPUTER REVOLUTION REACHES COURTSIDE

It's clear to see that some things haven't changed in the 13-year history of the Milwaukee Bucks. Flesh and blood players still play before flesh and blood crowds. The human factor is, as always, the element that makes the game exciting.

The Milwaukee Bucks of the National Basketball Association have stepped into the computer age with a microcomputer that continuously compiles, displays, and prints player and team statistics during the course of the game.

The Bucks organization has taken a big step into the modern age with the acquisition of a new computerized statistical scoring system. California based Sports Stats U.S.A. has designated their system the SS100 Basketball Scoring System. The SS100 system consists of a standard off-the-shelf office computer purchased from Radio Shack (TRS80-Model III) and a special basketball data entry computer keyboard and computer software programs from Sport Stats U.S.A.

The system has virtually replaced pen, pencil and paper, strained eyes and cramped fingers with the miracle of micro-circuitry. For years, keeping stats meant hash marks on a scorecard, adding columns, and filling out a box score by hand. The next morning, after the game, it was back to the office, pencil in hand, erasers aplenty, to add up team and individual totals for the year, calculate comparative totals team by team and player by player, determine team and individual highs and lows, check career marks, type up the results, and otherwise spending hours in the pursuit of a peculiar American sports preoccupation known as "statistics."

This year, in contrast, all of the above is being done with the touch of a button. Stats are totaled and printed in box score form seconds after the game-ending horn. Later, the computer can produce all the cumulative and comparative data, as well as season highs and lows, in printed form suitable for reproduction and use in future press notes and news releases. Cumulative statistics are now compiled and printed in the time it used to take to complete a box score. Accurate up to the second game statistics are displayed by the computer on video monitors to assist radio and television broadcasters in calling the game. During timeouts, and between quarters, quickie stats are printed and distributed. Comprehensive box scores are printed at half time and post game.

"The system is light years ahead of how we used to compile statistics," said Bucks' Publicity Director Bill King II. "The amount of information immediately available both on video monitors and through printed reports was heretofore not possible. But with the aid of the Sport Stats system we can virtually overwhelm even the most statistical oriented sports reporters and fans."

"The system has a very high profile courtside while it saves valuable office time for me" continued King. "The computer has allowed us to redefine the role and importance of keeping statistics by minimizing the vast amount of time required to compile statistics."

According to Sport Stats spokesman, Jim McCabe, the real advantage and revolutionary nature of computerized scoring lies in the inherent speed, accuracy, and video display capabilities of the computer. Since the heart of the system is a general purpose office computer, it can also perform important office functions. The Bucks will be utilizing the system in such areas as season ticketholder mailing list, and word processing.

So the value of the SS100 in saving time and increasing accuracy is obvious. Coupled with the fact that information is disseminated much more rapidly, and the advantages mount.

But how does this affect the fan, either in the Arena or at home listening to the game or watching it on television. By supplying radio and television broadcasters with video monitors, the computer display will provide a "running box score" of the game as the action unfolds, enabling local radio commentators such as the Voice of the Bucks, Jim Irwin, to USA Network commentator Eddie Doucette, all the way to the CBS broadcast crew with fingertip facts. Such instantaneous transmission of data will aid the broadcasters in their analysis of the game, and in turn, increase the understanding of the audience.

The Milwaukee Bucks are also looking into the feasibility of having the "running box score" as provided to broadcasters, transmitted directly to the home television screen via a link with the onsite broadcast remote truck. If this is accomplished, the Bucks believe it will be the first time a professional sports team has offered such advanced graphics for pickup and retransmission to home television screens. In arenas that have closed circuit television, the "running box score" could be displayed on the monitors for fans in the arena.

The Sport Stats SS100 Basketball Scoring System took two years to develop working with several NBA teams. Sport Stats completed six months of extensive field testing of the system with the help of the Milwaukee Bucks last season and is now offering the SS100 for sale to NBA, college and high school teams.

Implementing the system courtside during games requires two operators who actually make the entries on the keyboard. To record a statistic, the operator simply pushes a player key (programmed to correspond to a particular player prior to the game) after which he punches the applicable event key, whether it be "field goal make," "steal," "offensive rebound," etc. The two main operators are assisted by the play-by-play typist who acts as a spotter and two other members of the stats crew who record statistics on paper in the conventional sense as a backup to the computer should there be a malfunction or loss of power. The official scorer verifies the entries per a monitor placed in front of him.

"When one looks at the system and given a brief description of how it operates, it appears rather simplistic. Just touch a player button and an action key and the computer does the rest," said King. "In actuality there are a multitude of procedures and practices that go into the overall operation. When we first started experimenting with the system, we knew virtually nothing about computers. But after going through the debugging process, reading the technical manuals, and spending time to understand the system, we feel we have attained a plateau higher than that on which we used to operate and one that we feel will set the pace for all of professional sports."

The "Sport Stats SS100 Basketball Scoring System" was used at each of the Bucks home games last season. Numerous NBA teams, such as the Utah Jazz and Phoenix Suns, also have the system installed in their arenas. Eventually, it is hoped that computer stats will be universally accepted on a league-wide basis, helping the NBA step into the computer age.

BUCKS HISTORY — THE FIRST DECADE

Kareem and Commissioner Kennedy

On October 16, 1968, before a crowd of 8,467 at the Milwaukee Arena, the Milwaukee Bucks made their National Basketball Association debut. The Chicago Bulls, however, won 89-84. The Bucks first win came in their sixth game, a 134-118 victory over Detroit on October 31, 1968. The Bucks went on to win 27 games and lose 55 in their first season, but set a home attendance record for a first year team, averaging 6,246 fans at the Arena. Guard Jon McGlocklin led the team in scoring with a 19.6 average; forward Greg Smith was the leading rebounder, and guard Guy Rodgers was the playmaker.

The Bucks last place finish in the East Division and the last place finish in the West by the other expansion team, the Phoenix Suns, qualified the two teams for a coin flip to determine rights to the number one choice in the college draft. On March 19, 1969, NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy flipped the coin. Phoenix chose heads, the coin came up tails, and on April 2, 1969 the Bucks signed 7-2 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of UCLA.

Abdul-Jabbar became an instant superstar, teaming with McGlocklin, Smith, rookie Bob Dandridge and Flynn Robinson in leading the Bucks from the cellar spot to a runner-up place in the East. The Bucks won 56 and lost 26 that year and then defeated the Philadelphia 76ers in five games. 360,650 fans watched the Bucks at the Milwaukee Arena, an average of 9,490 per game. Following the season, the Bucks made their biggest trade — getting All-Pro Guard Oscar Robertson from Cincinnati for Flynn Robinson and Charlie Paulk. Just prior to the start of the 1970-71 season, Bob Boozer and Lucius Allen were acquired from Seattle for Don Smith.

With Kareem, Robertson, McGlocklin, Dandridge and Smith forming the starting five and Boozer, Allen and Dick Cunningham providing backup, the Bucks ran away with the Midwest Division in the newly aligned four division league setup. The Bucks won 66 and lost only 16 games, in the process setting six league records: home wins, 34; road wins, 28; field goal percentage, .509; field goals, 3972; and assists, 2249. In a playoff competition the Bucks dispatched San Francisco and Los Angeles in five game series and then blasted Baltimore four straight for the World's Championship, only the second time in league history that the title series ended so quickly. In winning the World's Championship, the Bucks had come further, faster, than any expansion team in the history of major professional sports.

In 1971-72 the Bucks made the playoffs for the third straight year, winning the Midwest Division for the second year in a row. The Bucks elevated Wayne Embry to the general manager post and named William Alverson, a legal advisor to the club since its beginning, president in March, 1972.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar earned the league's MVP honor for the second straight year, averaging 34.8 points per game and leading the NBA in that department. The Bucks found defense of their World Championship title difficult. The Bucks disposed of Golden State in five games. The "super series" for the Western Conference championship matched the Bucks against the Los Angeles Lakers, a contingent that had run a 33 game winning streak during the season before being derailed by the Bucks on January 9. The Bucks battled the Lakers in six exciting games before falling four games to two.

The Bucks completed the 1972-73 season with a 60-22 record, the only NBA team in history to post sixty or more wins in three consecutive seasons. The sixty wins were posted despite an unusual season which found the Bucks plagued by injuries. Coach Costello had his full roster available for barely more than half of the 82 game schedule. The Bucks finished the year with an NBA record of 14 straight victories to end the season, and entered the first round of the playoffs against Golden State. Possibly wearied by the whirlwind of winning the 14 games and the final race with the Lakers for the Western Conference title, the Bucks were surprised by a deep Golden State team, and fell 4-2 in the opening round.

The Bucks were one game short of their fourth consecutive season with 60 regular season wins or more in 1973-74, finishing the season with a 59-23 record. Numerous injuries during the season often put the Bucks in a manpower shortage situation, but the club rallied to offset the absence of various players at different times of the year. The most serious injury sidelined Lucius Allen for the last few games of the season and all of the playoffs. Allen tore a cartilage in his knee in a game March 15 in Detroit, and underwent surgery the following day. The Bucks again topped the Midwest Division and eliminated Los Angeles 4-1 in the playoffs and dispatched Chicago without delay 4-0. In the championship round against Boston, the Bucks faced a troublesome press that continually dogged their game. The series was highlighted by a double-overtime sixth game which the Bucks won in Boston, to knot the series at 3-3. In the NBA Championship round's final seventh game, the Bucks were defeated by the Celtics 102-87.

Abdul-Jabbar

In 1974-75 the Bucks endured what might have been their most frustrating season on record. A pre-season broken hand kept Kareem Abdul-Jabbar sidelined for the first sixteen games of the season and the club was 3-13, putting themselves too far behind Midwest Division rivals to ever recover. A mid-season knee injury to All Star guard Jim Price sidelined him for the last half of the season. Kareem, Price and Bob Dandridge were named to the All Star team, the first time in club history that three members had been named to the honor squad. Although the Costello trademark of defense was upheld (the club's allowance of 100.7 points per game was the fifth best in the league), their 38-44 record put them in last place in the Midwest Division. The club's longest winning streak of the year was five games, and the team stayed in contention for the wild card playoff berth until the last week of the season. The Bucks lost 18 games during this fretful year by five points or less, and 11 of those losses were by three points or fewer. Kareem was third in the NBA in scoring while Bob Dandridge finished 18th with a 19.9 point per game clip.

On June 16, 1975 the Bucks executed one of the most momentous trades in pro basketball history by sending Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and reserve center Walt Welsey to the Los Angeles Lakers in exchange for center Elmore Smith, guard Brian Winters, and two All-American rookies, David Meyers and Junior Bridgeman. The Milwaukee Bucks entered the 1975-76 season with a new, young running team, perhaps the youngest in the NBA.

Jon McGlocklin

The young talent faltered at first, losing the first five games of the season before posting a win over Detroit on November 4, 1975. As the season progressed, all four players obtained from Los Angeles for Abdul-Jabbar proved to make important contributions. Smith became a consistent performer at center, leading the team in rebounding during the season with a 11.4 per game average. Brian Winters put his marksmanship to work to average over 18 points per game and make the NBA West All Stars. Winters started in all 78 games he played. Bridgeman played both guard and forward well, started in 19 games and averaged over 20 minutes per game. Meyers showed outstanding rebound potential, banging the boards hard in 34 starts at the strong forward slot. Slowed by a knee injury, he rallied to have an outstanding playoff series against Detroit.

The Bucks posted a 38-44 record in 1975-76, identical to that achieved by the Los Angeles Lakers and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Bob Dandridge was named to the NBA West All Stars and had his best season ever, averaging 21.5 points per game while ranking among the top ten scorers in the league. The Bucks finished first in the Midwest Division for the fifth time in eight seasons. The Milwaukeeans were beat in the first round of the best-of-three playoff series 2-1 by Detroit. Coach Larry Costello signed a new two year pact just prior to the playoffs. In the 1976 college draft the Bucks selected Indiana All American and U.S. Olympian Quinn Buckner in the first round.

The 1976-77 season saw a major shakeup within the organization. Just 18 games into the season Larry Costello resigned as Head Coach and Don Nelson took over the reigns. Other changes came about involving the club's management structure. A group headed by James F. Fitzgerald, William J. Blake, and J. P. Cullen and Son Corporation purchased 361,000 outstanding shares of Milwaukee Professional Sports and Services common stock. Mr. Fitzgerald became Chairman of the Board and President of the corporation. Wayne Embry, formerly General Manager of the club, became a consultant thus relinquishing his duties on a day-to-day basis. What was formerly Embry's duties were then split between Don Nelson who handles player personnel matters and John Steinmiller who was promoted to Director of Business Operations in charge of the day-to-day functions of the club. On the court Bob Dandridge turned in a solid performance averaging 20.8 points over the season. Brian Winters and Junior Bridgeman also averaged in double figures as did Sven Nater who was traded to Cleveland which gave Milwaukee the first round draft choice they used to obtain Marques Johnson. Record-wise the 1976-77 season was a meager 30 wins against 52 losses. But to offset that mark was perhaps the best draft by any professional team in history. Behind the direction of Rick Sund, Don Nelson, and Wayne Embry the club drafted and subsequently signed three first round choices in Kent Benson, Marques Johnson, and Ernie Grunfeld. John Killilea, once a scout for the Bucks and more recently assistant coach of the Boston Celtics, joined Don Nelson in the coaching ranks as assistant coach and assistant Director of Player Personnel.

Bob Dandridge

The 1977-78 season parlayed an exceptional draft of Benson, Johnson, and Grunfeld along with veterans Bridgeman, Buckner, Meyers, and Winters into an exciting season for a young team that as of yet did not have valuable playoff experience. Milwaukee finished the regular season with a 44-38 record. The fate of the playoff hopeful Bucks hinged upon Seattle beating Golden State on the final game of the 902 game NBA regular season schedule. The scene was a frustrating one for the Bucks as players, coaches, and fans alike stood anxiously by listening to the radio for a special play-by-play feed of the Sonics-Warriors game. Everyone felt helpless as their fate rested with a game they weren't playing. Seattle defeated Golden State sending the Bucks to pack the bathing suits in Milwaukee to head for Phoenix. Milwaukee swept the Suns 2-0 in the mini-series advancing to the Midwest Division final. It took Denver a tough seven games and the home court advantage to defeat Milwaukee and end a championship dream for the "Green and Growing" Bucks.

The image the Bucks created that year was one of youth and hope. The first full season under Don Nelson saw some changes, not all of which were on the court. The Bucks adopted their new familiar three-toned green striping on their uniforms and other paraphernalia, came out with a 45 record entitled Green and Growing, and numerous other exciting concepts. The result of all this could be felt at the gate where the Bucks averaged 10,711.15 fans (.97012%) to top their all time attendance records. Also that year the Bucks set an all time NBA record by winning eight overtime games.

In the next season, 1978-79, everyone expected Milwaukee to surpass their successes of the previous year. What with the core of the 1977-78 team intact, it was an easy assumption to make. But before the season began a vital cog on the Bucks club was lost. Alex English went to the Indiana Pacers via the free agent market. Then Dave Meyers was lost for all 82 games of the regular season due to a back injury. Those losses coupled with a few key injuries, saw the Bucks reversing their 44-38 record of the prior year to 38-44 and missing a playoff berth.

There were some bright spots however. Marques Johnson was named to the NBA All-Star team receiving more fan votes than any other player in the Western Conference. Later, Johnson was named to the NBA All-League team as a first team forward. Marques finished third in the NBA in scoring with a 25.6 average which was highest among all forwards and centers in the league. Junior Bridgeman finished the season with a 15.5 average, tops among all regular sixth men in the league. Kent Benson improved greatly over his rookie campaign while Brian Winters had his best scoring season ever. The Bucks 38-44 record placed them tied at third with Indiana in the Midwest Division. The club came on strong towards the end and won 16 of their last 26 games (.615%) including 6 wins in their last 9 road games. Milwaukee also shattered the NBA assist record with 2,562 on the year for a 31.2 average. The total attendance mark of 443,926 broke all the records set one season before. The marks include 32 sellouts, an average of 10,827, and a capacity of 99%.

The Bucks rebounded with another Midwest Division title during the 1979-80 campaign, posting a 49-33 record to squeeze out the Kansas City Kings by two games. The title qualified Milwaukee for its eighth playoff appearance in the club's twelve year history. It was a season of highs and lows as the Bucks sprinted to an early lead with an NBA high of ten consecutive victories only to lose six straight in December to close the cushion. Compounding the losing skid was the sidelining of Quinn Buckner with a recurring hamstring problem. By January the division lead swayed to Kansas City.

The All-Star break, highlighted by Marques Johnson's second straight starting role for the west squad, Marked a turnaround for Milwaukee as Detroit dealt big Bob Lanier to the Bucks for Kent Benson and a number one draft choice. Lanier's inside scoring punch combined with Marques Johnson's outside touch vaulted the club into the winner's circle in 11 of the next 13 contests. All told, the club went 20-6 following the break and reclaimed the division lead for good in mid-March. Defense played a major role in that comeback, forcing the second place Kings into a NBA season low 72 points February 24 and Golden State into a League low third quarter total of 10 points March 8.

Milwaukee drew defending champion Seattle in the playoffs, eventually falling in the seventh and final contest at the Kingdome. The series was marked by an NBA record crowd (40,172) in Game #5 and a Bucks' record-low first half point production (35) in Game #6. Games #1 and #2 were both highlighted by overtime play, the clubs each taking one contest. Seattle went on to play the eventual NBA champion Los Angeles Lakers for the Western Conference Championship.

Last Season

The Milwaukee Bucks finished the season with a 60-22 record to become the 19th team in the history of the NBA to reach the magical 60 win plateau . . . the Bucks' 60 win season was the club's fourth in its 13 year history . . . with both Boston and Philadelphia reaching 62 wins, the Bucks joined the Celtics and Sixers in making last season the first in which three clubs have had 60 or more wins . . . before last season only 16 teams had won 60 or more games in a season . . . Boston has turned the trick 6 times in its 34 years of activity to lead the League while the Bucks are second with 4 in 13 years of competition . . . the Bucks finished the season 34-7 at home to tie their season record for home court wins set during the championship year of 1970-71 . . . the club's home court record was third best in the Eastern Conference behind the Celtics and the Sixers . . . its road record of 25-16 was the best road mark the club has posted in the last eight seasons and second best in the NBA behind the Celtics at 27-14 . . . the Bucks were the only team in the NBA last year to lose no more than two games consecutively — only 17 teams in the history of the League have gone through the season losing less than three in a row... the Milwaukee teams of 1969-70 and 1971-72 had 5 two-game losing streaks while last season's squad did it four times... the Bucks have upped their victory production 11 games for two seasons in a row... they won 49 in 1979-80 and 38 in 1978-79.

The team started off the season by beating the Sixers in Philadelphia, then lost two straight only to put together a 10-game win streak, the club's longest last year... the Bucks were steady all year — after 20 games the club was 15-5, in the next 21 games it went 15-6 for a first half record of 30-11... in the next 21 games Milwaukee again won 15 and lost 6, and then went 15-5 to round out the season... from: October 18 to November 23 the Bucks won 11 straight on the road... from November 28 to January 18 the club won 16 in a row in the Arena but dropped six in a row on the road for their longest non-consecutive road losing streak... the Bucks averaged 113.1 ppg—tops in the Eastern Conference—and allowed 105.9 ppg for an average margin of victory of 7.2 points... the club pumped in an average of 131.3 ppg in their last four regular-season contests in preparation for the playoffs while holding their opponents to 115.6 (16.3 point differential)... the season's final victory, a 132-128 victory over Atlanta in overtime, gave the club a perfect 3-0 mark in extra period play.

For the season Milwaukee hit .498% from the field — fourth best in the club's history... the Bucks hit at a .504% clip in the final 41 games and .536% in its final ten... the defense allowed 267 fewer field goals than in the previous 1978-79 season... the club set a new team season high mark for blocked shots with 530, eclipsing the old 519 mark set during the 1973-74 season... in their final five games, the Bucks averaged 8.2 rejections a game... the club averaged 10.5 steals a game, 11.8 in their final 34 contests and 12.8 in their concluding five-game win streak... the Bucks committed a career high 2,198 fouls, breaking the 2,187 total compiled as an expansion team — the opposition committed 2,050 fouls to surpass the old total of 2,026... on the boards the Bucks corralled 44.7 rebounds a game, 2.5 rebounds better than the opponents... the opposition pulled down a defensive rebound season total of 2,209, 84 fewer than the Bucks had ever allowed... total rebounds of 3,474 by Bucks' foes was nearly 200 below the previous low.

Milwaukee committed 38 fouls in its final contest with Atlanta to break the old mark of 37 set vs. Boston, October 23, 1977 and vs. Chicago February 13, 1980... the Bucks blocked 18 shots in their win over the Pistons November 12 to break their old record of 14 set in Atlanta November 11, 1978 and vs. Seattle November 28, 1973... the Bucks were held to 31 points in the 2nd half of their loss to the Celtics December 9 to set a new low for points in a half — old mark was 33 set in Chicago November 28, 1975... Atlanta converted the Bucks' 38 team fouls into a new single game opponent's high for free throw attempts with 46... the old mark was 45 by the Supersonics in Seattle January 29, 1978... a new opponents individual free throw attempt mark was set by Lloyd Free of the Warriors with 20 attempts on February 13 and converted 18 to break the record set by Philadelphia coach Billy Cunningham against the Bucks on December 30, 1970 in Philadelphia.

After receiving a bye in the opening round of the 1981 playoffs the Bucks met the tough Philadelphia 76ers in the Conference semifinals. The Bucks had taken the season series 3-2 due to the unbalanced schedule. The series was hard fought with the Sixers winning the seventh and deciding game on their home court, the Spectrum, 99-98. The Bucks won the even numbered game in the series, games #2, 4, 6; while the Sixers won the odd games #1, 3, 5, 7... although the Bucks were 60-22 for the season the Sixers had a better regular season mark at 62-20, thereby gaining the home court advantage over Milwaukee in the series... the Bucks were 2-1 at home and 1-3 on the road... Sixers were 3-1 at home including the deciding seventh game and 1-2 on the road... in the series the Bucks outscored the 76ers 107 ppg to 104.4 ppg — Milwaukee also outrebounded the Sixers in 5 of 7 games and held a 43.3-38.4 rebounds per game edge in the series... Bucks played better team ball as well passing for 27.1 assists per game vs. 24.4 for the Sixers (Bucks had more point-making passes in 5 of 7 series tilts)... In the defensive stats the Sixers held an edge in blocked shots at 8.9 per game vs. 5.3 for Milwaukee — Bucks held an edge in steals with 10.1 per game vs. 8.9 for the Sixers... In the series the Bucks played solid defense holding the Sixers under 100 points, 4 times for a 3-1 mark — Bucks were held under 100 twice for an 0-2 mark... In game #2 the Bucks set new playoff team marks in FTA and FTM hitting 45-52 (.865%) from the line on their way to a 109-99 win... In the 7-game set the Bucks also had fewer turnovers in 5 of 7 tilts and fewer for the series averaging 16.3 per game vs. 18.6 for Philly... in the '81 second season the Bucks were 3-11 (.273%) from 3 point range (improvement over their .229% regular season mark) while their tight defense did not allow the Sixers a single bonus FG the entire series (Sixers went 0-9 from 3 point territory.)

BIG O — FIRST BUCK INDUCTED INTO HALL OF FAME

The game of basketball is perhaps the most beautiful of American games, almost poetic in its presentation and infinite in its excitement. Its performers, too, are something to behold. They are to many the world's finest athletes because they are the most graceful, the most talented . . . and most could have gone into any sport outside of basketball and succeeded. The game itself is relatively simple, though on certain levels, such as in the NBA, the mind must function as well as the body does.

NBA basketball especially is a game that matches the very best basketball players in the world against each other. These are men who run the fastest, are the best ballhandlers, can pass with accuracy, play superb defense and provide deadly scoring from almost any spot on the basketball court.

As with anything in life, there will always be those who rise above the "normal" level of talent; those who, because of their brilliance, become legends in the professions they have chosen. In basketball, such a legend is the man they call the "Big O" — OSCAR PALMER ROBERTSON. It defies logic to believe that there will again be one like him, that some kid now toiling on the playground somewhere in America will be able to put it all together and handle every phase of basketball as exceptionally as Robertson has. That just does not seem possible.

Acknowledged by his peers as one of the finest all-around players in basketball history, Robertson became the first Milwaukee Buck to be inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Massachusetts on April 28, 1980.

An 11-time NBA All-Star, Oscar was named the League's Most Valuable Player three times.

"Big O" was a three time All-American at Cincinnati University. Although the 6'5" picture of grace never was on a national championship team, his Cincinnati Bearcats had successive seasons of 25-3, 26-4 and 28-2 records.

Starting his glorious pro career in the 1960-61 season with the Cincinnati Royals, Robertson went on to become the game's most admired performer. "He was the only player who gave a clinic every time he stepped onto the floor," said a veteran NBA observer.

"Oscar will go down in history as one of the true great guards that ever played the game," said Boston Celtics General Manager Red Auerbach. After a long career with Cincinnati, Robertson was traded to the Milwaukee Bucks where in 1971 he helped the team to the NBA World Championship.

Big O scored his 25,000th career point while playing for the Bucks in a game against the New York Knicks December 1, 1972 in Milwaukee. In 14 pro seasons he scored 26,710 points and established the all-time record for assists in the NBA (9,887) and for Milwaukeee (2,156).

OSCAR P. ROBERTSON 1938- ELECTED 1979 — PLAYER

Born in Charlotte, TN; graduated Crispus Attucks H.S. (Indianapolis, IN) 1956; University of Cincinnati, 1960. All-time All-State in Indiana; Indiana Player-of-Year 1956, as team won two State Titles. During historic college career at U-C, was All-American three years; Player of the Year two years; major college scoring leader three years; established 14 NCAA records. Oscar was on Pan American Champion Team 1959 and Co-Captain of Olympic Champions 1960 in Rome. In 14 years in NBA, helped lead Cincinnati and Milwaukee to nine Play-offs and one NBA Title; was Rookie of the Year, 1961; League MVP, 1964; All-Star MVP, 1961, 1964, 1969; scored 26,710 points, 25.7 average in 1,035 games with record 9,887 assists and 7,694 free throws. Scored record 246 points in 12 All-Star Games. Selected All-NBA 11 years, during which "Big O" was widely recognized as one of the greatest all-around players in history of basketball.

Jim Fitzgerald
President & Chairman of the Board

"My personal goal is to put together the most exciting team possible. And my reward will be to watch us build a champion," said Jim Fitzgerald after taking over controlling interest of the Milwaukee Bucks in November of 1976.

Since then, Fitzgerald has yet to be rewarded with an NBA champion, despite coming painfully close to realizing that dream the past two seasons. But one thing is for sure; "Fitz," as he's known to some, has certainly helped to produce one of the most exciting teams in professional basketball.

After winning the division each of the last two years, and gaining the playoffs three times in the last four seasons, Fitzgerald's Bucks have given Milwaukee fans something to holler about. On November 4, 1976, James F. Fitzgerald was elected president and chairman of the board by the Board of Directors of Milwaukee Professional Sports and Services, parent corporation of the Bucks. Since then things have never looked better for the Bucks. Don Nelson took over as coach for the resigning Larry Costello, and Fitzgerald was able to run things the way he had wanted to before his promotion.

However, skeptics were leery of Fitzgerald's motives, and the press ran stories questioning the interests of this outsider from Janesville, where he owns Total TV and other cable companies in Illinois and Florida. It took some time before the doubters realized that Fitzgerald had no intention of moving the Bucks out of Milwaukee. Ironically, as a result of Fitzgerald's association with cable TV, the Bucks' future in Milwaukee will be more stable than ever with the advent of a new state cable network planned to begin operation in 1983.

In September, The Wisconsin All-Sports Network, Inc., the newest regional sports network for cable television, was formed by the Bucks and the Milwaukee Brewers. Fitzgerald, a long-time advocate of such a cable network, said, "The formation of this new company is the most significant step that (Brewer President) Bud Selig and I could take to provide for the long range stability of the Bucks and Brewers franchises in Milwaukee. There are 27 larger city markets than Milwaukee in the country. If we're forced to stand by and depend solely on commercial television royalties, we'll be at a hopeless economic disadvantage in relation to other teams."

For someone whose original intent was questioned, Fitzgerald is enthusiastic when he talks about what the cable network will mean for local fans. "Every night fans will have one channel exclusively devoted to regional sports. And during the day there will be all different sports-related specials on the cable network. The live sporting events will always be regionally-oriented — either the Bucks, Brewers, Marquette or the Badgers, and top high school events as well.

"As a bottom line, today, if you're in professional sports, and don't become seriously involved in cable TV, the franchise is being put in jeopardy."

As for how cable will affect live gate sales, Fitzgerald said simply, "We'll have to be very careful. We'll concentrate on televising away games, and maybe show just a few home events a year."

Speaking of live gate revenue, Fitzgerald would like nothing more than to draw 17,000 fans to a Bucks home game. But since the capacity at the Arena is just over 11,000, and until a larger facility is built in the area, he can only wait and repeat himself regarding a touchy, political subject. "This is a sticky area," he said, searching for just the right words. "We've always taken the position that a.) we'd love a new arena to be built, but b.) we don't want taxpayers or anyone else building it just for the Bucks. It would have to be for the entire city."

When Fitzgerald assumed control of the club in 1976, he initiated a five-year plan for his team with the theme of "Green and Growing." He said he got the idea from reading McDonald's founder Ray Kroc's book, "Grinding It Out." In it, Kroc states that every organization should always be green and growing, if not, it's rotten. "The players thought it (motto) was great for the first couple of years, but then they didn't like it at all," Fitzgerald admitted. "They wanted to get away from the green and growing thing, which, I suppose, made it seem like they were still inexperienced but improving. They wanted to come onto the floor and see fear in the opponent's eyes."

Although the Bucks' president hoped to have a title team by the end of the five-year plan, he's certainly not about to become involved with another multi-year venture. "We're pretty much there (championship) right now, so we'll just approach it on a year-to-year basis," Fitzgerald said.

And while preparing for each season as it comes along, perhaps a more appropriate theme for the Bucks might be "Ripe and Ready."

If anybody is ready for a professional champion, it's the Wisconsin sports fans. The last time the Badger state was able to boast such a team was in 1971 — when the Bucks claimed their only NBA crown in the club's 13-year history. And it is the local fan which Fitzgerald so admires. "If there's one thing that has struck me more than anything else, it's the fact that Milwaukee is truly one of the great sports cities in America. The Milwaukee fans have instincts and insights far ahead of those in other cities. We've worked hard to relate to the market in the best possible way, and the fans understand that. There's a certain awareness — the average fan understands what we're trying to do better than the media, because the media is always digging under the covers for something that's not there. As long as people in our organization can relate to the average fan, he'll bail us out every time. Even when we were the worst team in the League five years ago, we still had an 89 per cent occupancy rate at the Arena because they could see daylight. The Wisconsin fans will hang with their team as long as they can see something good happening on the horizon."

As for what he sees ahead for the NBA, Fitzgerald has a very definite thought concerning its survival. "I think the NBA — unless it can restructure using the NFL as a model with its revenue sharing — may encounter some problems three or four years down the road. The way it stands now (with teams taking the entire home gate sale, but nothing on the road) some teams could be severely affected."

According to Fitzgerald, living in Janesville has actually been more advantageous to the Bucks organization than one might imagine. Of course, he admits that the 70-mile trip into Milwaukee — which he makes for almost every home game — is a disadvantage. "Especially when we lose, then that drive seems to take five hours. But when we win, it only seems to be about 15 minutes," Fitzgerald said. Fortunately, the quicker trips have been far more common in recent years. "But in the long run I feel it's been a definite advantage not to be at the Arena looking over everyone's shoulder. Many sports owners get involved in areas where they shouldn't. So it's better for Steiny (Bucks Vice President-Business Operations, John Steinmiller) and Nellie (Coach Nelson) not to have me around — they both like the extra responsibility and freedom."

Although there are some areas where Fitzgerald believes he shouldn't be, the familiar open white shirt and sport coat has become a fixture behind the home bench during the game, and in the locker room after each contest. "I don't relax at games," he said. "I try to be loose, but I consider going to the game part of my job. And I go into the locker room after every game. Some of my peers don't think I should mix with the players, but I can tell what's going on with the team better that way."

Knowing his players has always been of paramount importance to Fitzgerald. In fact, so concerned is he with the idea of a cohesive bunch of athletes, Fitzgerald had sought the services of psychologist J.P. Cleaver a few years ago to help find the right "blend" of players. "You can gather a lot of superstars together, but that doesn't necessarily guarantee a winner," Fitzgerald stressed. "What we feel is important is that the players we have play as a team — they must be compatible and jell well together."

Fitzgerald's main goal, of course, is to win an NBA title, and "maybe build a dynasty with the Bucks," although he's well aware of how difficult that would be with the balance of talent in the League from year to year. But, after assembling one of the most respected front offices in the NBA, and putting a successful product on the court, the groundwork has been laid. Still, there's another half of Fitzgerald's personal goal which he badly wants — an NBA champion.

Hand in hand with his Bucks duties, Fitzgerald is also heavily involved with the NBA through three separate committees. With his cable television background, he's a natural as the chairman of the NBA TV committee. And with his general "people" attitude, he's also a valuable contributor to the player relations and pension committees.

Jim and his wife Marilyn are the parents of six children. They range in age from 18 to 29. All but the youngest, Ellen who attends Vanguard School in Lake Wales, Florida, are married. Son Mike lives in Janesville; Marcia lives in Madison; Brian and Jim, Jr. are employed by Total TV and live in Janesville and West Allis respectively.

Ross M. Worzalla

Wayne Embry
Vice-President—Consultant

As a charter member of the Milwaukee Bucks, Wayne Embry has moved from pivot to Vice-President, with stops as player personnel director and general manager in the thirteen-year history of the franchise. Two summers ago he was named to the Board of Directors of the Milwaukee Bucks.

The former NBA standout hasn't let his business interests interfere with the time he devotes to helping young players and youth in general. Embry says, "There are a lot of youngsters out there with no direction and I've always felt if I can provide some direction and help somebody have a better life, it's well worth it. You develop compassion for young players, in fact for all young people, not just basketball players."

"The company I'm not involved with gives over $5,000 a year to scholarship foundations for young people, and I try to contribute in other ways."

As Wayne moved up the Bucks' administrative ladder, he brought the quality of the Bucks organization with him. "We try to emphasize that we want to draft players with character," Embry revealed. "Maybe some of the players with a little less ability but who are willing to sacrifice and develop a team concept. The team is an extension of the people putting it together, to a degree. We want to put together a team that represents Milwaukee well, win or lose."

"I'm very proud of the players we now have. I believe they are capable of winning, eventually even of winning the championship," Embry added. "They have the reputation for being class human beings. Whether they are playing basketball or whatever they are doing, they will do it well and with a lot of class."

A native of Springfield, Ohio, Embry was a high school basketball star. He moved on to play for Miami University in Oxford, Ohio before being selected in the 1958 draft by the St. Louis Hawks. Embry was dealt to the Cincinnati Royals before he had played a minute. He proved to be a valuable find for the now-defunct Royals, playing eight seasons that included five playoff appearances and five All-Star games. Embry averaged 13 points per contest and was regarded as an excellent rebounder despite his small stature by NBA standards. "I was shorter than most centers, but tried to make up for it with strength and intelligence."

In 1966, Embry was traded to the Boston Celtics, where he spent much of the next two seasons backing up Bill Russell and was aboard for the Celtics 1967-68 NBA Championship.

The Bucks drafted Embry in the expansion draft of 1968. "Coming to Milwaukee and an expansion franchise was a different experience, although my first couple years at Cincinnati were almost like playing with an expansion team," Embry recalled. "Playing here was interesting. We had a blend of some veteran players and some young guys."

Embry was reunited with ex-Royals teammate Oscar Robertson when he came to the Bucks. "Oscar came two years after I had been in Cincinnati," he remembered. "In my opinion, he was the best. He certainly complemented me well."

Embry averaged 13.1 points and 8.6 rebounds in his one-year stay with the Bucks. He went into retirement and returned to Boston to act as its city recreation director. That lasted a year before the Bucks convinced him to return.

Embry, along with Jon McGlocklin, is one of the original Bucks still active within the organization. He continues to be an active member of the Milwaukee community as well as charitable and service organizations nationally.

The Embry family consists of wife Terri, daughters Debbie, 20; Jill, 19; and son Wayne Jr., 16.

John Steinmiller
Vice President—Business Operations

Geographically speaking, the distance between Seventh and Wisconsin Avenue and 901 North Fourth Street in downtown Milwaukee is not that great. But, for John Steinmiller, the distance between those two points must seem like worlds apart.

You see, Steinmiller, at age 32, has traveled the route between the Milwaukee Bucks' first offices on Wisconsin Avenue and their present location in the Arena. Although it is only about a six block walk, it took "Steiny" ten years to complete it. Oh, but how that trek has paid off.

After graduating from Marquette University in 1970 with a bachelor's degree in journalism, Steinmiller was hired by the Bucks as an administrative assistant, handling responsibilities ranging from ticket sales to publicity work. Before that, Steinmiller had worked in the Bucks' offices during his final semester at Marquette University. Now, ten years later, the early days of sometimes mundane tasks seem worthwhile. John Steinmiller, Vice President-Business Operations for the Bucks, can point to those days as important in his development as a sports executive.

"I was very fortunate to be around in the early years of the franchise," recalls Steinmiller appreciatively. "I had mentors in this business — Wayne Embry and (former Bucks publicity) Jim Foley and Cathy Bartley (now with Houston). They were very encouraging, open, helpful and supportive. I guess that, coupled with my own motivation and common sense has largely influenced my success."

Steinmiller's success has carried over into making the Bucks organization one of the most respected in the NBA. Even though the Milwaukee Arena houses the smallest capacity crowds in the League (11,052), only Portland can boast a 99% plus occupancy rate for home games. "Those record sellouts don't just happen spontaneously," Steinmiller stresses. "We plan, project and sell with a record turnout year in mind every season."

Steinmiller says he always knew he would amount to something, but he admits that climbing the corporate ladder as quickly as he did really never entered his mind. "I definitely had designs on making the most of my ability," he said. "But I never dreamt that I'd be where I am now. Sports is not like IBM or Standard Oil where the corporate structure is pretty much blueprinted. In sports you have to take a round about way to determine where you'll be, or where you won't be, in an organization. It's a day by day pnd you just hope to make some progress after a while."

After serving as director of public relations from 1972-77, Steinmiller was promoted to handle the team's business operations. In 1980, he was named to his current position, Vice President-Business Operations.

It seems as though Steinmiller has always been a few years ahead of his time. When he was appointed the Bucks' PR man at the age of 22, he was not only considered to be the youngest publicist in pro sports, but also became one of the best. "I guess I always knew I could do the job associated with the positions I've had, but it's been a little frightening at first each time because of my age. I always had to prove myself.

Steinmiller's philosophy for successfully guiding an organization is relatively simple: "I think you have to work as hard as possible, giving a maximum effort, and being aware of the No. 1 goal — being a winner," said the former student body president at Marquette. "A winner on the court is always reflected in the front office. I try to impress upon all of our employees that their individual jobs are very important."

After gaining such responsibility at such an early age, Steinmiller says he'll just take the years as they come now. "Ultimately, there always has to be a challenge in one's job, and I have plenty," he said. "I constantly try to satisfy myself and others with the job I do. It gives me a daily dose of reality with the highs and lows that come with winning and losing. In the long run, it helps me get a hold on life and makes winning that much sweeter. Sports is not all flash and fun, there's a daily business and detail end of it that requires an awful lot of hard work."

And, as Steinmiller has experienced, you can't get anywhere without working at it — even if it means starting near the bottom.

Aside from his job with the Bucks, Steinmiller is secretary/treasurer of the Midwest Athletes Against Childhood Cancer (MAAC) Fund and is a member of the Sales and Marketing Executives of Milwaukee, while also being active in the Big Brother program. On behalf of the Bucks, he makes numerous speaking engagements at Milwaukee area service club meetings, banquets, career day programs and other sports-oriented award dinners. While Steinmiller considers himself to be a novice in golf and tennis as a participant, he follows numerous other sports as a spectator. A native of Mt. Prospect, Illinois, he attended St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights. John and his wife Corinne live on Milwaukee's east side

Don Nelson

Director of Player Personnel—Head Coach

"Don Nelson is a thinking man's ballplayer . . . I think he'll be a helluva coach in this League if he decides to try it," said former Boston Celtics coach Red Auerbach as Nelson's playing days were coming to a close in 1976.

Nelson, following a brilliant 14-year career in the NBA, did get a crack at coaching when the Milwaukee Bucks promoted him from assistant to head coach when Larry Costello resigned 16 games into the 1976-77 season. Now, five years later, "Nellie" isn't ready to be placed in a class with Red Auerbach, but he certainly has been a key figure in re-establishing the Bucks as a league powerhouse.

At age 41, Donald Arvid Nelson traces his coaching philosophies back to those which he learned as a Celtic playing for Auerbach. "My concept of coaching revolves around teamwork," says Nellie. "Red influenced me the most dating back to my younger days as a Celtic.

Red always shared his ideas and concepts, was successful in what he did, and was respected for what he did. And to me, respect is probably the most important. As a coach, I may not be liked, but respect of my players is important."

Now in his sixth year of NBA coaching — his fifth full season as a head coach — Nelson has gained the respect of his players after guiding the Bucks to three playoff appearances in the last four years. Respect is something Nelson received from opposing players, as well, while helping Boston capture five NBA titles during his 11-year stint with the Celtics. The epitome of aggressive play, Nelson proved durable by stringing together 465 consecutive games played and scoring over 10,000 points, despite a chronic back problem.

While getting respect as a player, Nelson's confidence in himself was probably the most important asset which he carried over into his coaching career. But his mettle received a stern test with an abrupt introduction into the head coaching ranks. Hoping to gradually learn the ropes as Costello's understudy, Nelson suddenly found himself relying on two months of basic training as a basis for leading the Bucks during a trying period in the team's history.

"It wasn't what I had planned," Nelson recalls. "I wasn't sure that I was ready for the head position, but in a way it was good because it forced me to learn more quickly — I didn't have any time to think about it. Looking back, it was actually quite a break for me because a lot of people never get a chance to coach a professional team. It wasn't a matter of confidence with me, since I knew I could do the job and I would get better at it day by day. But I did want to be sure that the Bucks thought I could do the job."

The Bucks convinced Nelson that he was, indeed, the man for the job, and a new, wide-open style of play emerged as quickly as you can say "fast break."

Initially, Nelson relied heavily on coaching ideals which he had picked up from Auerbach. And although he says that he's still influenced by what he picked up from Red, Nellie continues to develop his own coaching style. "Actually, I've learned a little from everyone whom I've been associated with in basketball from high school up through the pros," recalls Nelson. "But my philosophies haven't really changed that much from when I first broke in. We've simply acquired better players over the years that can execute my philosophies better, that's all."

Nelson cites his other duty as Director of Player Personnel as an integral part of his team's success. Not every NBA coach has the luxury of being able to select his own players, and Nelson probably understands the significance of that freedom better than anyone. "It lets me do things my way," says Nellie. "My relationship with (Bucks President) Jim Fitzgerald has been an excellent one — it has worked out very nicely."

But Nelson isn't one to take all of the bows for the Bucks' recent string of success. Rather, he is quick to credit assistants John Killilea, Dave Wohl and Garry St. Jean for their work with the team. In fact, Nelson's unassuming nature often gives one the impression that he actually has little to do with the club's success. But those close to the game — and those who understand Nelson — give credit where it is due.

To better understand Nelson, one might be best to start with his background. A Midwesterner at heart, Nellie was born in Muskegon, Michigan, and grew up there and in Rock Island, Illinois, where his family moved. He grew up on a farm, and attended a one-room schoolhouse which boasted an enrollment somewhere in the neighborhood of seven. His first exposure to basketball occurred when an uncle fashioned an old bicycle tire into a hoop above the chicken coop, where dribbling was understandably a messy experience. Nelson eventually went on to star at the University of Iowa, before enduring the fast-paced lifestyle of the NBA. But now, even as a coach, Don Nelson is basically quiet (except when referees are present), with no real desire to impress people. His small town roots are still apparent in his conservative dress, and the enjoyment he derives from life's simple pleasures.

Nelson believes there is a definite difference between today's players and those from a decade ago when he still wore the familiar No. 19 in the green and white. "First of all, players today seem to have a lot more freedom — in terms of physical ability — to do what they want to on the court. Also, there are much more sophisticated offenses and defenses being used by teams today."

As a player, Nelson never possessed great physical attributes, but he more than made up for it in desire. It's obvious then, why he cringes whenever he sees a player not giving one hundred percent. "It's very disappointing when you see a guy not getting the most out of his talents. I don't have a problem with players that play hard and intelligent for a whole game. But I have a real problem with someone who continuously makes mental errors and doesn't put out."

According to Nellie, attitude is a very important ingredient when developing a winner. He says that instead of each player forming their own attitude, it's up to the coach to portray a certain attitude which the team can relate to. At the same time, however, Nelson believes each coach is unique. "Every coach does things differently with the different areas of the game, from the way they handle men to the x's and o's on the blackboard," says Nellie.

But don't let Nelson's down-to-earth, laid back approach to life fool you — if he had been given a choice, his middle name would probably be "competitive." And right along side that need to compete is an intensity level as high as can be found anywhere. Winning is the bottom line with Nellie, while losing is something which just doesn't pass too quickly.

"Losing is just something I've never learned how to do very well," Nelson admits. "There used to be a time that no matter what I did I had to win. I've pretty much gotten over that, but I've never gotten away from that in basketball. Losing bothers me. I wish I could forget it when it happens and move onto something else, but it stays with me into the next day."

With all of that dedication to winning at such an intense level, what does Nellie do when he's away from basketball? "Anything that is competitive," he says. And that should help to explain why the Bucks have been winning under Nelson.

Don and his wife Sharon live in Brookfield with two of their four children. Daughter Chris, 17, is a senior at Brookfield Central High School, where Katie, 14, is steadily etching a name for herself as a basketball star. Meanwhile, Julie, 20, is a junior at Wheaton College outside of Chicago, and Donn, 19, is a freshman at Worcester (Mass.) Academy where he's keeping the Nelson name alive in New England while playing basketball. About the Milwaukee area, Nellie says: "I love it here. It's a super place to live and unmatched as a sports town. I missed Boston the first year I came here because I didn't really have any friends out here. But that's changed now — I hope I never leave Milwaukee."

John Killilea

Assistant Coach and Assistant Director of Player Personnel

His nickname could just as easily be Milwaukee's Man in Motion as he stalks the Bucks sideline game after game, venting frustrations at the officials and gesturing to the players with his yellow pad tightly clutched in hand.

But, the Bucks' chief opponent analyst has the nickname "Killer" and assumes the position of a man on the move. Killilea travels about 200,000 miles a year to probe and dissect the mechanics of each NBA opponent, often times losing all track of time and location. The time spent living out of his suitcase is valuable to the club, he insists. "I've learned in this League about the importance of scouting," he said. "I believe in knowing everything there is to know about the opponents. I don't think you can ever know too much about an opponent."

"Now with all the expansions and everything, scouting has become increasingly more important," Killilea added. "Right now we have a complete book on all 22 teams in the NBA. I hope it's as concise as our own playbook."

Defense is John's specialty, zeroing in on the deceptions of match-up man-to-man alignments or other complicated defenses that try to circumvent the League's no-zone rule. His infatuation with that portion of the game is partially due to his own concentration on defense while playing at Boston University.

"I was as bad a player as I had ever seen," Killilea remembered. "I was a real bad shooter so naturally I had to learn to play defense if I wanted to play."

"I think defense is the most difficult, underpublicized and most unglamorous aspect of the game—mainly because it's darn hard work. By emphasizing that aspect, your conditioning gets much better. Defense conditions you and gets a lot of hard work out of the way, because there isn't that much time to work on it during the course of the season."

As Nelson's assistant, Killilea directs a good part of each practice, handles most of the team's pro scouting, helps Nelson in making decisions at each game and acts as an assistant director of player personnel. He served a brief stint as head coach when Nelson was out with back surgery two seasons ago.

Killilea was a high school head coach for 18 years in his native New England area before joining the pro ranks on a full-time basis with the Celtics in 1971. He has been approached by several teams about head coaching jobs, none of which have drawn Killilea's immediate attention.

"I don't think it ever leaves your mind," he said about head coach aspirations. "The thought always enters my mind. You wouldn't have any drive if it didn't."

His mind is often filled with other aspects of the game, however. When not criss-crossing the nation on scouting trips, Killilea spends time in summer camps with youngsters and Bucks' draftees. This past summer, Killer spread his expertise both here and abroad. He spent the month of May on the east coast participating in a series of clinics sponsored by the President's Council on Physical Fitness. The next two months were spent at camps and clinics in Italy and in a two-week vacation in Norway. Killilea rounded out the summer at his boys' basketball camps in Massachusetts and Maine.

John and his wife Eli have four children; Kevin 22, Richie 19, Tanja 14, and Lee 13. The family resides in Brookfield, Wisconsin.

Dave Wohl
Assistant Coach

Head Coach Don Nelson's misfortune became Dave Wohl's good fortune during the 1979-80 campaign. Wohl was called on to serve as an assistant coach when Nelson was felled by a back ailment that required surgery. He remained in that capacity once Nelson returned to the bench.

Wohl, who also does scouting, had firsthand experience with life in the NBA, having been a third round choice of Philadelphia in the 1971 draft. As a rookie with the 76ers, he trailed only Billy Cunningham and Hal Greer in assists. From Philadelphia, the native New Yorker bounced between Portland, Buffalo and then Houston, where he scored a career-high 29 points after beating out Calvin Murphy for a starting spot.

After Houston, Wohl's contract was purchased by the New Jersey Nets where he played out the rest of his career, a three-year stint highlighted by a 6.2 points per game average and 3.4 assists per contest.

Philadelphia again became home in the fall of 1979 when Wohl was named head coach and general manager of the Philadelphia Fox of the Women's Basketball League. The club folded in December of the same year but Wohl stayed in the game, at first negotiating with a group in Yugoslavia to coach, but then tabling that idea when the Bucks called.

The assistant coach had several contacts with the Bucks personnel prior to his move to Milwaukee. He and Brian Winters played together in the Jersey Shore Summer Basketball League, a league in which Wohl later directed a team of Bucks draftees.

Wohl played his high school ball at East Brunswick in New Jersey and was recruited to play football at the University of Pennsylvania. However, his talents turned to basketball at Penn where he assisted the team in a 53-3 record and two NCAA berths in his final two years, while earning All-Ivy League honors.

Garry St. Jean
Assistant Coach

Garry St. Jean joined the Milwaukee Bucks as a scout just prior to last season's training camp and found himself elevated to assistant coach last February.

"Garry's primary responsibilities remain in the area of scouting," said Head Coach Don Nelson. "He will also participate in training camps during the summer and our rookie and fall training camps. I have been impressed with his knowledge of the game and think he adds a great deal to our program."

St. Jean brings with him eight years of high school coaching experience from Massachusetts. He earned his undergraduate and master's degree in physical education at Springfield College and has completed course work towards a doctorate in education. While at Springfield he captained both the basketball and soccer squads before a series of three knee operations cut his athletic career short

Garry returned to his hometown of Chicopee, Massachusetts to take over the head basketball coaching job at his alma mater Chicopee High School. As a prepster, he had been named all-state in both basketball and soccer at the school and was named to Parade Magazine's list of the top 500 basketball players.

In his eight years at the high school helm, his teams posted a cumulative record of 122-65 (.652%) and qualified for the Massachusetts State High School Tournament seven times. A 10-year association with Nelson at various camps and clinics helped bring him to the attention of the Bucks.

A bachelor, St. Jean makes his home in Milwaukee when not scouting prospective college players.

Jeff Snedeker
Trainer

Trainer Jeff Snedeker has worked on some of the most famous bodies in the nation.

In 21 years of dealing with professional sports injuries, Snedeker can be credited with keeping Joe Namath's knees sturdy enough to lead the New York Jets to the Super Bowl III championship, keeping soccer great Pele healthy enough to guide the New York Cosmos to the NASL crown and extending the life of Bob Lanier's knees.

Snedeker has lent his sports medicine expertise to three major sports thus far, spending 14 seasons with the Jets, another two touring with the Cosmos, and is currently in his third year with the Bucks. Professional basketball wasn't a complete change of pace for the 44-year-old native of Yonkers, New York. In 1965 he served as trainer for visiting NBA teams at Madison Square Garden and acted as a substitute trainer for the New York Knicks in 1966.

A possessor of a Master of Science degree in athletic training from Indiana University, Snedeker has continued to educate himself in the field by conducting off-season research in the area of strength testing and flexibility at the Institute for Sports Medicine and Athletic Trauma at New York City's Lenox Hospital. He has also served as a part-time lecturer in physical education at Barnard College in New York while teaching graduate courses in sports medicine.

Snedeker extended his athletic training knowledge beyond the professional realm last September when he opened a special physical therapy clinic designed for both athletes and non-athletes. The facility, located at 2979 North Mayfair Road, offers professional care without demanding a pro sports-related injury.

"It's a sports medicine physical therapy orthopedic rehabilitation athletic training facility," Snedeker advised with an all-inclusive phrase. "It provides physical therapy and athletic training services to those who have been injured in athletics on any level, or on the job."

Snedeker is also the Southeastern Wisconsin representative for SyberVision, a unique mental training system designed to enhance athletic performance through the use of videotape. After seeing a segment on television about SyberVision and noticing a drop in the Bucks free throw shooting percentage prior to the playoffs, he went to California for three days to learn the system. The effects of implementing the system with the Milwaukee players was statistically significant during the playoffs.

SyberVision is designed to train the memory, enabling an athlete to remember and re-enact the "perfect" motions it takes to shoot the ball, pass, or grab a rebound.

The Bucks trainer is a member of the American College of Sports Medicine, the National Athletic Trainer's Association, the Eastern Athletic Trainer's Association and the New York State Athletic Trainer's Association.

Jeff and his wife Joy have four children: Cheryl, Connie, Karen, and Kathy. The Snedeker family resides in Whitefish Bay.

Bill King II
Director of Publicity

As Director of Publicity for the Milwaukee Bucks, Bill King's responsibilities encompass a wide range of areas. The functions include serving as the liaison between the club, the general public and the media, and scheduling public appearances by the players and front office staff.

King joined the club in 1977 as one of the youngest publicists in the professional sports. At age 26 and after four seasons, he ranks seventh in seniority among NBA public relations directors.

It is through King's office that the writing and editing of news releases, media guides, the HOOP game program and other official publications of the club are handled. He is responsible for the management of home games in the Milwaukee Arena with special attention to press accommodations, the statistical crew, game notes, and photography. The Bucks Speakers Bureau and Film Library are also operated by the publicity offices. King is also involved in the production of the Bucks televised games on WVTU-Channel 18.

A new twist was added last season when the Bucks decided to computerize their statistical operation. The Bucks were the first team in the NBA to step into the computer age with a microcomputer that continuously compiles, displays, and prints player and team statistics during the course of a game and calculates seasonal totals after the conclusion of a game. The system has virtually replaced pens, pencils, erasers and paper, strained eyes and cramped fingers with the miracle of micro-circuitry.

"The system is light years ahead of how we used to compile statistics," says King. "The amount of information immediately available both on video monitors and through printed reports was heretofore not possible. But with the aid of the computer system we can virtually overwhelm even the most statistical oriented sports reporters and fans."

"The system has a very high profile courtside while it saves valuable office time for me," continued King. "The computer has allowed us to redefine the role and importance of keeping statistics by minimizing the vast amount of time required to compile statistics. We've also been able to write off the cost of the system with various uses including our season ticketholder mailing list."

New this season in the publicity department is a student intern. Mike Borden, a graduate student from Ohio University, joins King in giving the public relations areas of the club three-man depth. Since Vice-President John Steinmiller was elevated from the public relations post in 1977, the addition of Borden gives the publicity office greater flexibility and manpower.

A native of Neptune City, New Jersey, King is a graduate of Neptune High School where he was involved in a host of extracurricular activities. He went on to become the youngest full-time Sports Information Director in the nation at Morris Harvey College (now the University of Charleston), in Charleston, West Virginia. While serving as the Morris Harvey SID, King's publications received numerous national awards from CoSIDA. He was named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities while at Morris Harvey, a repeat of an award he also received on the high school level.

During the summer months through high school and college, King honed his statistical skills as publicist and statistician for the Jersey Shore Summer Basketball League in Neptune, a loop in which the Bucks have participated in by sending players and coaches in the past. While in that capacity, King was tagged with the title "Superstat" by a local sportscaster.

King joined the Bucks after serving a brief stint as the Assistant Promotions Director at Tulane University in New Orleans.

During the off-season, King enjoys jet skiing as well as body surfing during trips to the east coast.

Bea Westfahl
Ticket and Office Manager

Starting her 13th year in the front office of the Milwaukee Bucks, Bea Westfahl continues to manage the many responsibilities associated with her position as ticket and office manager.

Mrs. Westfahl directs a staff of seven through the maze of ticket procedures created by the demand for Bucks seating. The responsibilities include processing season tickets, directing over-the-counter, mail, phone, and group orders, as well as coordinating the computerized Ticketron outlets.

Additionally, Bea assists season ticketholders in the selection of their individual seats, advising and providing personal attention to the holders of nearly 6,000 tickets. All told some half million tickets are processed through her office each season, a task pleasantly complicated each time the Bucks qualify for the playoffs. She justifies the headaches and long hours by admitting a true enjoyment for "the challenge and personal contacts encountered with the hundreds of people for who I come in touch."

Mrs. Westfahl joined the club in November of 1969, leaving behind a nine-year association with the Wisconsin State Fair Park. At the State Fair she was in charge of concessions and grandstand operations as an employee of the State of Wisconsin. Prior to her present position with the Bucks, she served the team in her capacity as an assistant ticket manager and assistant office manager.

Currently a resident of Milwaukee, Bea was born in Wauwatosa and raised in West Allis. She and her husband Don, a city fireman, are the parents of three sons and have welcomed to the family two daughters-in-law and two grandsons.

When a rare hour or day of relaxation presents itself, Bea and family members partake of recreational activities, particularly swimming, boating and snowmobiling, at their home on Tichigan Lake. On occasion Bea returns to her love of music and relaxes by playing the piano.

Chuck Reupert
Controller

A long-standing corporation, is only as solid as its financial base, and additionally only as strong as the man designated to keep tabs on its growth.

Chuck Reupert is the man who has been entrusted with the responsibility of monetary matters associated with the Milwaukee Bucks. His day-to-day responsibilities monitor the financial health of the club.

Having joined the organization in February of 1971, Reupert is second in seniority among NBA controllers with 11 years of professional basketball experience in the front office. He joined the club after serving as a plant accountant for a local manufacturing firm, a job he held for a decade.

Reupert attended Boys Tech High School in Milwaukee and the University of Wisconsin. He served as an infantry squad leader in Korea as well as putting in a stint with the U.S. Maritime Service as a third officer in World War II.

An experienced sports car builder and driver, Chuck races under the Milwaukee Bucks banner in a car outfitted with the Bucks logo. He is a former Class D racing champion for the Midwest area. He shares his automotive interests with his twin sons, Mike and Mark. Mike serves as his father's race car crew chief while Mark owns and operates a semitrailer.

Jim Irwin
Voice of the Bucks

Currently in his third season as the Voice of the Bucks, this three-time winner of the Wisconsin Sportscaster of the Year Award can be heard calling the action on all 82 regular season home and away broadcasts and all playoff contests on WTMJ radio (620 am). The NBC radio affiliate feeds Irwin's court-side descriptions to a statewide network of over twenty stations throughout Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

"For me, doing the Bucks games is just a breeze because they're such a good ball club. And yet you have fun because you go there anticipating winning the game, and you can get all excited."

It's obvious that Irwin loves the game and his job with a passion. For 41 home games Irwin is joined court-side behind the mike by former Bucks All-Star Jon McGlocklin. "I try to build a basketball game from a lower level to a higher level throughout the course of the game," says Irwin. Because of the degree of talent in the NBA, most games are tight until the fourth quarter. So I try to build that broadcast on a steady plane upward until a high point is achieved somewhere near the end of the contest."

"My philosophy on sports, that I learned a long time ago, is that I'm a broadcast entertainer. The first aim that I have in any broadcast is to be factual. The second is to be entertaining," continued Irwin.

Jim has called the Wisconsin Badgers football games for the past six seasons, covered the Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tourney for 13 years, and has broadcast reports from the Indianapolis 500. In addition to his Bucks play-by-play responsibilities, Irwin will continue with his morning sports broadcast, "Viewpoint." Heard at 7:45 a.m. on WTMJ radio, it is an insightful commentary on timely sports topics.

"I've had to work hard. I don't want to say that I'm a good broadcaster — I'll leave that for somebody else to say. I think that anybody who's successful at his profession works hard at it. My wife says that I'm married to the business, and I think she's probably right. I spend far more time than it's necessary to get by in my business. But I think it's necessary to do that in order to be successful at it. Maybe it's also easier to work at sports than it is to do things around the house — I'm not sure," Irwin said.

Much has been written about Irwin's cross-continent travels in order to fulfill his commitments as play-by-play broadcaster. It's a hectic schedule, especially during the fall when he's covering the Packers and the Badgers, along with the Bucks. "From a physical standpoint, it's no major problem for me. Anybody who's in the precarious business of radio — which is transient, at best — is surprised when I tell them I've been around here (WTMJ) for 12 years. Everybody says, 'Nobody's at a station for 12 years!'"

Jim hastens to point out that, "travel in the NBA is always a problem considering there are 41 games on the road during the regular season and there are no consecutive games in any one city. But in truth I have traveled a lot during the past winters covering basketball in the Big 10, as well as selected Bucks games. It's a whole lot easier getting in and out of the large cities in bad weather than it is in the smaller towns in the Big 10. In addition, half the games are at the Arena here in Milwaukee, you don't get that luxury with the Packers and the Badgers."

A graduate of the University of Missouri, Jim served with the Army in Korea. Jim married his childhood sweetheart, Gloria, who writes documentaries for Channel 10 in Milwaukee. The couple have two children, 17-year-old Anne, a senior at Whitefish Bay High School, and 14-year-old Jay, a freshman in high school.

Jon McGlocklin
Radio/TV Color Analyst

"During a game I try to analyze what each team is doing — both offensively and defensively — and try to explain it to the people," says Jon McGlocklin. "But I also like to give some insight whenever I can, a player's view of a particular situation. I try to watch the action of the ball, the areas of the camera or the play-by-play isn't following.

Those insights McGlocklin brings courtside in his role as color commentator reflect eleven seasons of pounding the hardwood, the final eight of which were spent in Milwaukee red and green. Jon's descriptions can be heard on the Bucks home radio broadcasts along with Jim Irwin on WTMJ radio and on a statewide WVTW-Channel 18 network with Eddie Doucette.

McGlocklin credits Eddie Doucette, his long time friend, for his broadcasting success, "Eddie broke me in, he taught me everything. And he gave me a lot of room — he let me do halftime shows, post-game shows and so on."

Even though Jon works with two different partners, Irwin on radio and Doucette on TV, he finds the transition easy. "To be very honest, I find both very easy to work with because they're so good at using color (men) in their broadcasts," McGlocklin said. "There's obviously a tremendous difference in style, the way they do a game, Eddie uses more terminology — that Doucette style — which was entertaining and interesting from the beginning. Jim has more of a straight-forward style. But both are so good it makes it easier to work with them."

Along with lending his expertise to the Bucks broadcasts, Jon is a speaker much in demand at clinics, youth gatherings, church affairs, and father-son nights. He is president of the Midwest Athletes against Childhood Cancer (MACC) Fund which was inaugurated the night of his retirement December 17, 1976. Jon also serves on the board of Athletes for Youth.

On the business side, Jon and Milwaukee Brewer Sal Bando have combined to form Bando-McGlocklin Investment Company (SBIC). Jon is vice-president of the company that makes loans to small business concerns. The duo are also in a partnership at Ville du Parc Country Club.

Besides being a regular on the Bucks televised games, McGlocklin has been a color analyst for the CBS television network on their Game of the Week series and is a regular on the USA network Thursday night game of the week telecasts.

McGlocklin, along with Eddie Doucette and Bucks Vice-President—Consultant Wayne Embry, are the three remaining members who have been with the franchise since it's inception in 1968.

Known on the court for his patented jumpshot, all-out hustle, and competitive spirit, McGlocklin is second to Bobby Dandridge on the club's career record list for games played (595), was the first Buck ever to don an All-Star uniform (1969), and was a vital cog on the NBA championship squad of 1971.

Originally drafted in 1965 by Cincinnati after an outstanding collegiate career at Indiana, Jon spent two seasons with the Royals before a one year stint with the San Diego Rockets.

Statistically, Jon carried an eight year scoring average of 12.5 points with the Bucks. His remarkable .505 field goal percentage still ranks among the top twenty all-time field goal shooters in NBA history.

A native of Franklin, Indiana, Jon and his wife Pam now make their home in Greendale, Wisconsin with their two children; Shannon, 13, and Meghan, 6.

Eddie Doucette TV Announcer

The original "Voice of the Bucks" is back for his 14th consecutive season of calling Milwaukee Bucks action, once again on WTVT-Channel 18 which will serve as the flagship station of the expanding Bucks TV network. Eddie along with his personal friend and TV teammate Jon McGlocklin and Wayne Embry are the link with the original days of the Milwaukee franchise back in 1968 to today's team of the 80's.

Eddie was the original "Voice of the Bucks" until 1979 when he left Milwaukee for the milder climate of San Diego. "While I've moved west for family reasons, I've kept my business ties to Milwaukee," says Doucette. Besides building a solid TV team with McGlocklin on Channel 18, the pair have worked national cable games together as well as numerous business ventures.

The majority of "on-air" work Eddie does these days is for USA Network which is owned by Time, Incorporated. He calls the action on approximately 75 events each year that range from the NBA Game-of-the-Week series and Major League Baseball Game-of-the-Week, to men's team tennis, indoor soccer, football, contact karate, and boxing.

The past three seasons Eddie could be heard calling the action for the San Diego Padres baseball team as sports director of KFMB Radio in San Diego before relinquishing that role at the end of last summer.

In addition to the Bucks telecasts and USA Network appearances, Eddie also is involved in freelance commercial work. In Milwaukee he can be seen doing commercials for MBTI (Milwaukee Business and Technical Institute). He has done medical presentations for corporations and along with noted sports agent Donald Dell, is involved in Pro Serve TV out of Dallas, Texas producing shows for television and cable.

All told, Eddie has been in broadcasting over 20 years.

A sports voice while attending Michigan State University, Doucette honed his skills on radio and television in Cincinnati, Toledo, Chicago and Milwaukee before joining the club. There are those in Milwaukee that still remember Doucette as the "Duke of Dilemma" while a disc jockey in Brew City. Regarded by his peers as technically one of the best play-by-play men in the country, Fast Eddie coined such phrases as sky hook, yo-yo dribble, and rainbow jumper, to name just a few.

He continues to be closely involved with the MACC Fund. Eddie, his wife Karen, and their two sons, eight-year-old Brett, and six-year-old Cory reside in Poway, California.

Fr. Gene Jakubek, S.J. Chaplain

Fr. Gene Jakubek, S.J. begins his fifth season as the Milwaukee Bucks team chaplain, spurred in part by his lifelong self-image as a "jock."

"My one diversion is sports," admits Father Gene. "I've always been a big jock. I watch sports on television and go to whatever games I can.

"Being chaplain to a professional sports team is hardly different from being chaplain to any group," he added. "The duties are the same: to give your people a chance to turn to you on anything where you can help."

Father Gene accepted his position on an invitation from club owner Jim Fitzgerald, promising to make a go of it if he could fit it into his schedule. That schedule includes not only his vocation of 22 years in the Jesuit Seminary Guild, but seminars, retreats, counseling, lecturing and a host of other responsibilities.

Jakubek is perhaps best known for his long running weekly television series "The Answer is Love," aired by WITI-TV on Sundays at 10:30 a.m. and after the late news at 1:45 Monday morning. The program, aimed at married persons, the elderly, singles and teenagers, is now available throughout the country to cable subscribers.

Father Gene is also responsible for initiating a center for Milwaukee's needy entitled HELP (Happiness for the Elderly, Lonely and Poor). The program provides food, clothing, recreation and visitation for shut-ins. It is located at 5921 West North Avenue and at 23 West North Avenue. HELP handled over 42,000 cases in 1980.

Position : Forward/Center
Height : 6'10"
Weight : 220
Birthdate : September 2, 1951
Birthplace : Jackson, Mississippi
High School : Jim Hill High School, Jackson, Mississippi
College : Hardin-Simmons '74
When Drafted : Third round by Philadelphia in 1974
How Acquired : May 31, 1979 in trade with New Jersey for John Gianelli and eighth pick in first round of 1979 draft
Pro Experience : Currently in eighth NBA season
Residence : Glendale, Wisconsin

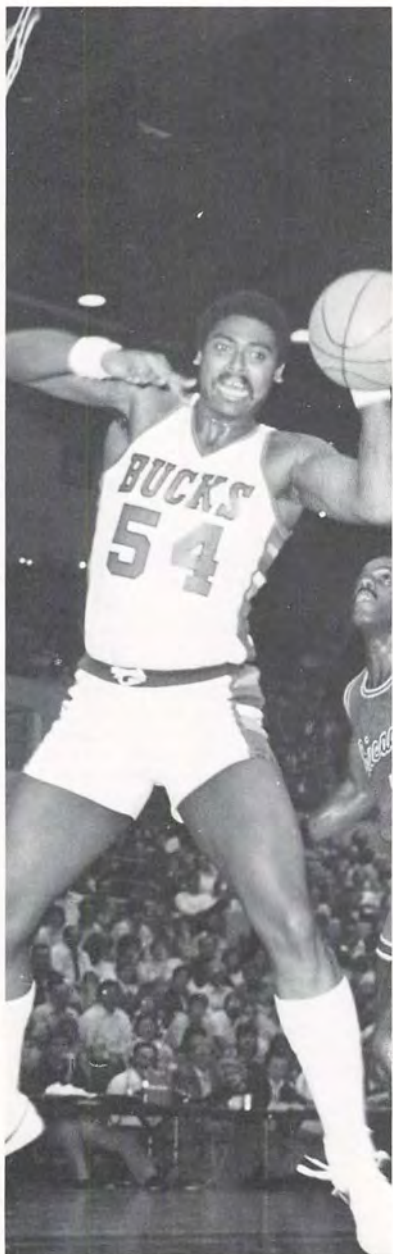

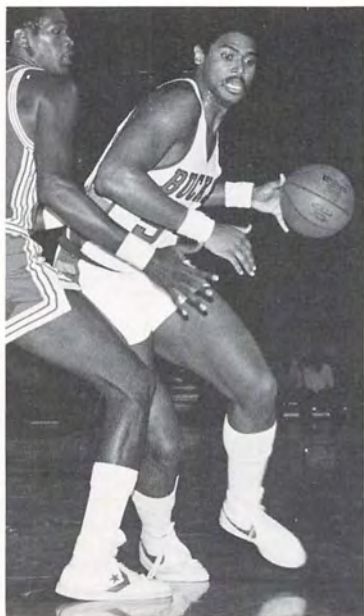

'80-81 Regular Season: Increased playing time as both a starter and reserve center is an indicator that Catchings has arrived as a full-time contributor in his second full season as a Milwaukee Buck... started in 18 regular season contests for a career high and for only the second time in seven NBA seasons averaged more than 20 minutes per game... averaged 4.2 ppg and 6.1 rebounds on the season in 21.2 minutes per game — an improvement over his figures from year one with the Bucks when he scored 3.2 ppg and 5.7 rebounds... passed for a career high of 1.3 assists per game with a career high 99 point-making passes in 77 games last year... led the Bucks in blocked shots for the second year in a row with a career high of 184 rejections for a 2.4 game average and the 6th position in the NBA's top 10... 327 points last season was Harvey's career high — 473 rebounds is the 2nd best total of Harvey's 7 year pro career... 33 steals this season is also a career high further enhancing Hi C's reputation as the Bucks defensive specialist... posted a .447 FG% for the season (3rd best mark for his career) and a .641 FT% (3rd best in that career category)... had a season high 14 points as well as 10 rebounds in the final home game vs. Cleveland.

1981 Playoffs: Came off the bench in all seven series tilts to average 1.1 ppg and 3.7 rebounds... had 5 rebounds and 3 blocked shots in 16 minutes in Game #1 in Philadelphia... hit 1-1 from the field and had 3 rebounds and 5 blocks in just 16 minutes in Game #3 in Milwaukee... averaged 1.6 rejections per game in the series... hit a perfect 2-2 from the charity stripe in second season action.

High School: Unusual for a professional basketball player, but Harvey only played basketball his senior year at Jim Hill High School in Jackson, Mississippi... interest in high school was really in music where he was the president of the Music Club and his church group.

College: Harvey needs six hours for his undergraduate degree and plans to obtain his BS degree after pro ball and possibly work towards his masters... attended Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, Texas... was a physical education major with other areas of interest that included psychology and art... received honorable mention all four years as an All-American.

Personal: Harvey and his wife Wanda are the parents of three children: Kenyon Doran, age 6; Tauja Dionne, age 4; and Tamika Devonne, age 2... the Catchings family resides in suburban Glendale, Wisconsin... the family enjoyed traveling around the country this past summer... Harvey once took up karate and still maintains an interest in the sport — says it teaches one how to absorb blows and how to fall... has business interests in real estate and would like to obtain his broker's license after his playing days are over in order to open his own firm with several offices... owned an auto body shop in Philadelphia along with apartment buildings and some single homes before being traded to the Bucks from New Jersey... toured parts of China two summers ago with a U.S. contingent of NBA players... made countless appearances in and around the Milwaukee area last summer.

LEN ELMORE 41

Position : Forward/Center
Height : 6'9½"
Weight : 220
Birthdate : March 28, 1952
Birthplace : Brooklyn, New York
High School : Power Memorial Academy, N.Y., N.Y.
College : University of Maryland '74
When Drafted : First round by Indiana of the ABA as an underclass pick in 1973 and in the first round by Washington in 1974.
How Acquired : From Kansas City as a free agent June 19, 1980 for the Bucks second round draft choice in 1981
Pro Experience: Currently in eighth pro season
Residence : Milwaukee and Jamaica, New York

'80-81 Regular Season: Played in 72 games in his first season as a Milwaukee Buck after being acquired as a free agent June 19, 1980 from Kansas City ... averaged 2.9 ppg and as many rebounds in 12.8 minutes per game ... showed great defensive efforts as a spot player throughout the season — blocked 6 shots vs. the Hawks in the Arena 11/28 ... finished the year with 52 blocked shots and 37 steals ... if one were to project Lenny's playing time to 32 minutes per game, he would have averaged 1.8 blocked shots based on last year's figures ... with 37 steals and only 44 turnovers in 72 games, Len has the best steal to turnover ratio on the club with an 84% return on every turnover committed ... averaged 8 ppg and 2.5 rebounds in his last two home efforts of the season shooting 7-11 (636%) from the field ... averaged 2.3 blocked shots in his last four games.

1981 Playoffs: Played in 4 of the 7 game series vs. the 76ers ... averaged 3 minutes per game in those tilts but did not score ... 0-1 from the field for the series ... has played in 27 playoff contests in his professional career.

Professional: Lenny was acquired by the Kansas City Kings November 27, 1979 in a trade with the Indiana Pacers in which the Kings gave the Pacers Milwaukee's 1980 second round draft pick which was acquired in the Richard Washington/Ernie Grunfeld transaction ... started the 1978-79 season on the Pacers injured list due to a ruptured extensor tendon in his thumb and did not appear in an NBA game that season until November 27 with Kansas City ... injuries also plagued Lenny during the 1976-77 season with Indiana when he played in only six games ... nevertheless, in four full seasons he ranked eighth in Pacers history in rebounding, ninth in games played and tenth in minutes played at the time of his departure ... the season he played just six games was the first year Indiana competed in the NBA — he suffered ligament damage in his right knee during an inter-squad scrimmage in training camp and was operated on just prior to the first pre-season game — a strenuous rehabilitation program enabled Elmore to return to the Pacers for six games late in the regular season but it was determined that the leg needed additional recuperative time and he finished the campaign on the injured list.

High School: A graduate of Power Memorial Academy in New York City which boasts many NBA alumni, including Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

College: All-American at Maryland ... was a first round pick in the 1973 underclass draft of the defunct American Basketball Association and was the Washington Bullets' first round selection in the 1974 NBA draft ... 1974 graduate was named the Terrapins outstanding male student his senior year.

Personal: Has completed course work towards his master's degree in Radio and Television at Maryland where he has done television color work for the Terrapins basketball network in the past ... along those same lines, Lenny is a member of a partnership that produces various film packages — the group worked on a piece this past summer showcasing the city of Baltimore ... enjoys good books, art, and music ... is also considering law school for his post-basketball days.

Position : Guard
Height : 6'1"
Weight : 170
Birthdate : April 19, 1955
Birthplace : Goldsboro, North Carolina
High School : Goldsboro High School, Goldsboro, NC
Prep School : Laurinburg Institute, NC
College : Kansas State University
When Drafted : First round by Denver in 1978
How Acquired : From San Antonio October 7, 1980
for future considerations
Pro Experience: Currently in third NBA season
Residence : Milwaukee and Manhattan, Kansas

1981 Playoffs: Was a great spot player for the Bucks in the second season ... played in 4 games coming off the bench in each tilt ... averaged 6.3 ppg in just 9.5 playoff minutes per game ... if Mike had played 32 minutes per game he would have averaged 21.1 ppg for the series ... hit 9-17 (.529%) from the field and 7-8 (.875%) from the line in his 4 appearances ... had a playoff career high 13 points in Game #2 to aid the Bucks victory effort — also had a playoff career high in that game hitting 7-8 from the foul line.

High School: Attended Laurinburg Prep in his hometown of Goldsboro, North Carolina. ... spent part of last summer at Laurinburg playing with the prepsters and lending some of his professional expertise to them while keeping in shape.

Personal: Spent the first part of last summer in Manhattan, Kansas and then returned home to Goldsboro, North Carolina for the remainder of the summer where he worked out vigorously with a highly regimented plan to build himself up and increase stamina . . . would eventually like to coach basketball after his playing days — probably on the high school level in North Carolina . . . a bachelor.

Residence : Glendale, WI and Los Angeles, CA

'80-81 Regular Season: Was the Bucks leading scorer for the third straight year averaging 20.3 ppg — good enough for 18th in the NBA's top 20... now has a career scoring average of 21.8 ppg through his 310 game career as a Milwaukee Buck going into the 1981-82 season... averaged 21 ppg after the first 41 games and scored 19.6 ppg in the second half of the season... led the club in scoring a team-leading 39 times (2 ties)... averaged 4.6 assists per game (second only to Quinn Buckner at 4.7 per game)... led the club in assists 28 times (7 ties) with the club posting a 21-7 mark in those contests... also led the club in rebounding for the fourth straight year with a 6.8 rebound per game average in a club high 33.4 minutes per game... second to Buckner in steals as well with 115 for the season (1.5 thefts per game) — just 1 away from his career season high of 116 set during the 1978-79 season... was the best from the field on the Milwaukee club hitting at a .552% mark to set a new career season high in that statistic as well as finishing 10th in the NBA in the FG%... Marques now has a .542 FG% after 4 years in the League and could move up as high as 4th on the NBA all-time leaders list for FG% ahead of Wilt Chamberlain at .540%... came off the bench for the first time in his professional career vs. the Jazz in Milwaukee December 2 — in that tilt Marques hit 10-17 (.588%) from the field and ended the game with a team leading 21 points in 31 minutes off the bench... made his third straight appearance in the All-Star game — came off the bench for the East for the first time in 3 All-Star games — had previously made two appearances as a starter for the West.

1981 Playoffs: Had an excellent series averaging 24.4 ppg and 9.4 boards in 38 playoff minutes per game in the seven game series... played great all-around ball in the second season passing for 4.9 assists per game as well as making 1.4 steals per game... averaged 23.5 ppg and 9.8 rebounds as well as passing for 4 assists per game in 4 road efforts in the series... scored 26.3 ppg and grabbed 9 rebounds per game in three home tilts... shot a hot .556% clip from the field for the second season in 1981 — 36-60 (.600%) from the field in the Arena during playoff action... played all 48 minutes in Game #7 in Philadelphia scoring 36 points for a new playoff career high — also had 9 rebounds and 2 blocked shots in that tilt.

High School: Led Crenshaw High School in Los Angeles to the City title in 1975-76 subsequently earning "City Player of the Year" honors... won prep All-American honors as well as All-City and All-Western League acclaim for two years.

College: Named to four major All-American teams... College Player of the Year in 1977... captained the UCLA Bruins to a 24-5 record and their 11th straight Pacific-8 Conference championship his senior season... Pac-8 Player of the Year in 1976-77, All-League in 1975-76... named to the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) Academic All-American first team... ranked as UCLA's all-time scoring leader among forwards and fifth greatest Bruins rebounder... shot .597% from the field and averaged 21.6 points his senior season... had 62 dunks the year the slam was revived... majored in communications.

Personal: Co-hosted a Los Angeles television talk show that was seeking national syndication this past summer... toured Japan with an NBA East vs. West All-Star squad last June... in the past Marques has made appearances on "Hollywood Squares" and "Make Me Laugh" television programs... spends the majority of the off-season in Los Angeles... both his parents are educators, a factor that Marques refers to in saying they were very influential in his development as a person.

WALLACE "MICKEY" JOHNSON

Position : Forward
Height : 6'10"
Weight : 200
Birthdate : August 31, 1952
Birthplace : Chicago, Illinois
High School : Lindbloom High School, Chicago, IL
College : Aurora (IL) College '74
When Drafted : Fourth round by Portland in 1974
How Acquired : From Indiana September 9, 1980 in a trade for George Johnson and the Bucks second round draft pick in 1981
Pro Experience: Currently in eighth NBA season
Residence : Brown Deer, WI and Oak Park, Illinois

'80-81 Regular Season: Helped the Bucks into the playoffs in his first year with the club — had made it into the second season twice while with the Bulls, but never made it out of the opening round mini-series . . . averaged 12.5 ppg in the season — scored 12.9 ppg through the first 41 games and scored an even 12 ppg in the second half of the season . . . played in 82 games last year to join Quinn Buckner as the only two Bucks to have played in all 82 games last season . . . Mickey has played in three consecutive 82 game years and is the ironman on the club having played in 269 straight games stretching back to his playing days with Chicago . . . averaged 6.6 rebounds in 25.8 minutes per game compared to career averages of 8.4 and 30.6 . . . passed for 3.5 assists per game last season — was good for 3.2 per game in the first 41 contests but increased his output to 3.8 point-making passes per game in the second half of the season (career average of 3 assists per game) . . . finished the year with a .448 FG% and a .798% mark from the line . . . was also good on the defensive end totaling 94 steals (1.1 per game) and 69 blocked shots . . . led the Bucks in defensive rebounds last season averaging 4.4 per game . . . led the Bucks in defensive rebounds in 23 games (11 ties) with the club posting a 17-6 record in those games . . . led the club in total rebounds 22 times (6 ties) with a 16-6 record resulting . . . led the club in scoring just twice during the course of the season — both wins for Milwaukee . . . also led the club in assists 11 times (6 ties) with an 8-3 record for those games . . . hit 3-18 (.167%) from 3 point range.

1981 Playoffs: Started all seven series games for the Bucks averaging 11.7 ppg and 6.7 rebounds per game in 24.3 playoff minutes per contest . . . also added 1.8 assists and 1.3 steals per game for the series . . . hit 30-35 (.857%) from the line for the series — converted a perfect 14-14 from the charity stripe in Game #2 for new playoff career highs in both categories as well as setting a new high for most free throws made in a Bucks playoff tilt.

Professional: Acquired on the eve of 1980 pre-season training camp by Milwaukee from Indiana in exchange for George Johnson and the Bucks' second round draft choice in 1982 . . . enjoyed his finest season scoring-wise with the Pacers, averaging 19.1 ppg . . . his best rebounding year was during the 1976-77 season with Chicago when he grabbed 10.2 rebounds per game . . . originally drafted by the Portland TrailBlazers in 1974, Johnson was acquired in September of that year by the Chicago Bulls in exchange for a third round draft choice . . . upon becoming a free agent at the conclusion of the 1978-79 season, he was signed July 17, 1979 by Indiana . . . in five seasons with the Bulls, Mickey rated in the top five in seven club statistical categories including third in steals, fourth in rebounds, and fifth in points, field goals, and free throws at the time of his departure.

High School and College: Local success story from Chicago . . . never played basketball while at Chicago's Lindbloom High School, but set virtually every school record at tiny Aurora (IL) College, where he was named to the NAIA All-American squad . . . set many school records including single game rebounding (35), single season points and average (663 for 27.3 in '73-74), season field goals made (288 in '73-74), season field goal percentage (.576, 278-483, in '72-73) and season rebounds and average (550 for 22.9 in '72-73) . . . also set career records for points (2,453), scoring average (26.1), rebounds (1,966), rebound average (20.9), field goals (1,050) and percentage (.561, 1060-1871) . . . struggled through freshman year academically, but became a very good student, earning "A"s and "B"s his final two years as a business major.

Personal: Mickey and his wife Diana, have two children; Wallace, Jr. and Michelle . . . the family resides in Brown Deer, Wisconsin during the season and in Oak Park, Illinois during the summer months . . . given name is "Wallace" . . . enjoys music in his free time.

Birthdate : September 10, 1948
Birthplace : Buffalo, New York
High School : Bennett High School, Buffalo, NY
College : St. Bonaventure '70
When Drafted : First round by Detroit in 1970
How Acquired : From Detroit February 4, 1980 for Kent Benson and Bucks' first round draft choice in 1980
Pro Experience: Currently in twelfth NBA season
Residence : Mequon, Wisconsin

'80-81 Regular Season: Had an excellent season in his first full year as a Milwaukee Buck playing in 67 games including 64 starting appearances for an average of 26.2 minutes ... in that time Bob averaged 14.3 ppg (3rd best on the club) as well as grabbing 6.2 rebounds per game (also 3rd best) ... played a season high 37 minutes in the Bucks final game of the season when the Bucks were looking for a comeback win over Atlanta to log 60 wins for the season ... averaged 25 minutes per game with 14.1 ppg and 6.1 rebounds through the first 41 games — in the second half of the season Bob upped his production to 14.6 ppg and 6.2 rebounds in 27.6 minutes per game ... preparing for the playoffs, Bob averaged 30.4 minutes per game in his last 5 efforts ... had 961 points for the year to make last season the first in Bob's 11 year career that he had not scored 1,000 points in a season ... Bob would have needed to play 70 games at 14.3 ppg in order to score 1,000 ... Bob now has 16,857 points in his NBA career and has played in 774 games for a career average of 21.8 points per game ... finished the season with a .525 FG% (3rd best on the club) as compared to a .507% mark from the field for his career ... averaged 2.7 assists per game on the season as well ... on the defensive end Bob had 73 steals on the year and 81 blocked shots for per game marks of 1.1 thefts and 1.2 rejections per game ... along with Mike Evans, Bob was one of only two Bucks last year that did not foul out of a single game ... Bob was one of only two players in the NBA last season that was perfect from 3 point range — Bob hit 1-1 from the fringe area vs. the Bullets on the road 2/22 (Cliff Robinson of the Nets is the other player).

1981 Playoffs: Went into overdrive for the playoffs in '81 increasing production in every category over his season marks ... started all seven series tilts averaging 33.7 minutes per game in the second season ... played a total of 44 minutes in Game #7 scoring 24 points and grabbing 10 rebounds ... averaged 17.6 ppg and 7.4 rebounds vs. the Sixers in the playoffs ... led the Bucks in the playoffs with 12 steals for a 1.7 per game mark — also added 1.1 blocked shots per game ... shot .588% (50-85) from the field for the series — 17-26 (.654%) from the field in Games 6 and 7 ... played good team ball averaging 4 assists per game for the series.

Professional: Drafted in the first round by Detroit in 1970, Lanier never wore another NBA jersey other than for the Pistons until his acquisition by the Bucks ... "Dobber" is Detroit's all-time top career scorer with 16,857 points to rank 21st on the NBA all-time scoring list at the start of this season ... ranks among the top ten in the all-time NBA field goal accuracy at .506% ... is second in playoff field goal accuracy (.543%) ... 7 time NBA All-Star ... holds career, season and game (33) rebounding records for the Pistons and leads in blocked shots ... second in assists, steals, and free throws.

High School: Attended Bennett High School in Buffalo, New York.

College: Chose to remain in his home state for his college years where he became an All-American at St. Bonaventure.

Personal: Bob and his wife Shirley have four children: Tiffany, age 7; Kimberly, age 8; Jack, age 14; and Robert Jr. who was born this past summer ... the family resides in suburban Mequon, Wisconsin during the season and at their Farmington Hills, Michigan home during the summer months ... Bob can be seen on Milwaukee television making numerous appearances on behalf of many charitable and business organizations ... gives freely of his time during the summer for youth basketball camps ... was voted the Pro Basketball Writer's Association Kennedy Citizenship Award in 1978 for humanitarianism.

ALTON LISTER 53

Position : Center
Height : 6'11"
Weight : 240
Birthdate : October 1, 1958
Birthplace : Dallas, Texas
High School : Wilson High School, Dallas, Texas
College : Arizona State University '81
When Drafted : First round by Milwaukee in 1981
Pro Experience: Currently in first NBA season
Residence : Dallas, Texas and Milwaukee

High School: A 1976 graduate of Wilson High School in Dallas, Texas ... lettered three years in basketball, winning All-State and All-American honors during his senior season ... was team captain that same year.

Junior College: Averaged 17 points and 16 rebounds and six blocked shots per game his freshman year at San Jacinto Junior College in Pasadena, Texas ... was instrumental in taking San Jacinto to the semi-finals of the NJCAA Championships in 1977 ... earned Junior College All-American honors that season ... holds the San Jacinto record for most blocked shots in one game at 12.

College: In three seasons of collegiate competition for the Sun Devils, Lister amassed career statistics that rank him first in blocked shots (148), sixth in rebound average (8.2) and seventh in both total rebounds (676) and field goal percentage (.523%) ... with A.S.U. consistently ranked in the top fifteen in the nation Lister's senior season, Alton averaged 15.4 points and 9.7 rebounds along with 1.9 blocked shots ... during his sophomore and junior campaigns Alton teamed with Wisconsin's Kurt Nimphius to form a potent combination under the bucket ... Street & Smith's magazine ranked him one of the top five big men in college basketball last season ... noted to have unusually quick reflexes for a player of his size ... possibly his most overlooked strength during college years is his deft passing ability ... A.S.U. career highs of 26 points vs. Washington January 20, 1981 and 16 rebounds vs. Grand Canyon January 22, 1980 ... was named to the 1981 First Team All Pac-10 and received honorable mention to that team in 1980 ... Sporting News bestowed All-American honorable mention to him in 1981 ... participated in the 1981 Pizza Hut Classic and the 1981 Athletes-in-Action vs. Coaches All-American team.

Olympic: Lister was named to the 1980 Olympic team that played a series of exhibition games vs. NBA All-Stars called the Gold Medal games ... opponents in that five game series included Junior Bridgeman, Quinn Buckner, Marques Johnson, and Bob Lanier ... of his Olympic experience Lister says, "Everything just worked out well. Luck was part of it. But I was playing well — I kind of surprised myself — and my attitude was good. I just made up my mind that I was going to play as hard as I could, give it my best shot, and whatever happened, happened." ... a benefit of the Olympic experience was a new sense of aggressiveness and confidence.

Personal: Parents are James and Anna Lister of Dallas, Texas ... Alton's brother James plays professional basketball in the Netherlands ... while in college he looked forward to a career in professional basketball as well as working with kids as a recreation director ... full name is Alton Lavelle Lister.

'80-81 Regular Season: Has shown the makings of an NBA superstar having stepped in for the injured Brian Winters last season in a starting guard spot since November 28... coming off the bench through game #23 Sid was averaging 10.9 ppg and 4.5 rebounds — he started the last 58 games of the season and produced 15.3 ppg and 5.3 rebounds... averaged 2.6 assists per game through 23 efforts off the bench — passed for 3.6 assists per game for the rest of the year... was averaging 24.7 minutes per game after 23 games — played 32.4 minutes per game the rest of the year... finished the season averaging 14 ppg, 5.1 rebounds and 3.3 assists in 30.2 minutes (2nd in minutes played on the club)... bettered his rookie effort of the previous year in every offensive and defensive category... showed excellent — even acrobatic — shot selection and shooting touch... hit at a .541% clip from the field on the year... starting only two-thirds of the season, Sid still led the club in FTM and FTA with 320-398 (.804%) from the charity stripe... had the second highest total of offensive rebounds (186) on the club behind Marques Johnson with 225... led the Bucks in offensive rebounding 19 times (8 ties) with those games resulting in a 16-3 mark for the Bucks... led the club in defensive rebounds 5 times (2 ties) with the club going 5-0 in those tilts... for the season Sid led the Bucks in scoring 10 times (1 tie) with the club showing a 9-1 mark in those games — in the final two months of the season Sid led the Bucks in scoring 5 times — all on the road — with Milwaukee winning 4 and losing just once in those contests... had 90 steals on the season for a 1.1 per game average... one of the few players in the League last year to play an entire ball game — Sid played all 48 minutes in his 3rd starting assignment of the season as the Bucks beat the Celtics in the Arena 107-105 November 30.

1981 Playoffs: Had his first playoff starting assignments in the 1981 second season — averaged 14 ppg and 6.7 rebounds from the guard spot in the series... had a playoff career high 20 points in Game #5 in Philadelphia hitting 9-14 (.643%) from the field in that contest... set a new playoff career high with 10 rebounds in Game #4 in Milwaukee... played all 48 minutes in Game #7 of the series scoring 19 points and grabbing 9 rebounds as well as passing for 4 assists and making 2 steals — set new playoff career highs for FTM and FTA hitting 11-12 (.917%) from the charity stripe in that game.

High School: Attended and played basketball at Hall High School in Little Rock, Arkansas.

College: Named by the Associated Press as the Southwest Conference Player of the Year and complemented that honor by being named to innumerable All-American teams his senior season... leading scorer and rebounder in Arkansas history... averaged an even 22 points per game his senior year with the Razorbacks along with 9.6 rebounds, 2.7 assists, and 1.5 steals in 38.5 minutes of playing time... connected on an amazing .606% of his field goal attempts in four seasons and .855% of his free throws his senior season... registered a career high of 39 points versus Southern Mississippi... represented the United States in several international tournaments and was a standout for the USA team that won the World Invitational Games in 1978... received his B.S. degree in physical education... earned rave reviews at Arkansas — writers tabbed him "Sid the Whiz Kid," "Sidney the Incredible," and one newspaper headline went so far as to call Moncrief "The player of ages rather than of the decade."

Personal: Sidney and his wife Debra call Glendale, Wisconsin their home during the season and reside in Little Rock, Arkansas during the summer... spent a portion of the off-season giving basketball clinics to youths at summer camps and making appearances for charitable organizations... in the past Sidney served as a spokesman in Milwaukee for Welch's One-on-One competition, a program for non-varsity youngsters.

Birthplace : Queens, New York
High School : Archbishop Molloy, Rockaway, NY
College : University of South Carolina '74
When Drafted : First round by Los Angeles in 1974
How Acquired : As part of Abdul-Jabbar trade from Los Angeles, June 16, 1975
Pro Experience : Currently in eighth NBA season
Residence : Wauwatosa, Wisconsin

'80-81 Regular Season: Began the season as a starter but was moved to a reserve role due to slow healing injuries . . . still had a fine season finishing with 11.6 ppg and a .475 FG% . . . through 23 games as a starter Brian was averaging 15.3 ppg and 4 assists per game — coming off the bench for the rest of the season Brian averaged 9.7 ppg and 3 assists per game . . . original injury was sustained November 23 in Los Angeles diving for a loose ball — collision with the Lakers' Mike Cooper on the play resulted in pulled muscles in the neck and shoulder, strained ligaments, and minor nerve damage all of which were slow to heal . . . turned his shooting around after the injury induced slump — after 42 games, Brian's FG% stood at .458% — playing in 36 of the final 50 games of the season Brian hit at a heated .491% from the floor and finished with a .475% for the season . . . with 799 points for the season, last year was the first year since Brian's rookie campaign of 1974-75 with the Lakers that he had not reached 1,000 points in a season . . . for the season, B.W. played 25.7 minutes per game averaging 2 rebounds and 1 steal per contest . . . led the Bucks in minutes played 11 times last year (2 ties) as Milwaukee forged a 9-2 mark in those contests . . . after coming back from injuries that had plagued him for the majority of the season, Brian led the club in minutes played 4 times in the month of March — all Milwaukee wins . . . led the club in scoring 6 times (1 tie) as the Bucks showed a 5-1 mark for those efforts . . . finished the season second to Junior Bridgeman in FT% for Milwaukee as Brian hit at a .869% mark from the line to set a new season career high . . . with a new career high FT% under his belt, Brian goes into the 1981-82 regular season with a career FT% of .847% on 1,247-1,472 from the charity stripe — that qualifies him for the 8th spot on the NBA all-time top 10 in FT% ahead of Dolph Schayes at .844% and behind former Milwaukee Buck Flynn Robinson at .849%.

1981 Playoffs: Played in all seven series games coming off the bench to average an even 10 ppg in 25.9 minutes . . . gave it his all in Game #7 playing a series high 34 minutes scoring 6 points and grabbing a series high 7 rebounds to tie his playoff career high — also passed for 4 assists in that game despite sustaining a hairline fracture to the jaw in the game . . . averaged 3.3 rebounds and 3.1 assists per game for the 7 game set . . . had 18 points and 6 rebounds as well as 3 assists and as many steals in 25 minutes in Game #2 to nail down the Bucks first playoff win of the second season . . . hit 2-5 from 3 point range vs. the 76ers in the series.

High School: Prep All-American at Archbishop Molloy High School in Queens, New York . . . teamed with Indiana's Kevin Joyce to win the New York City title his junior year and runnerup his senior season.

College: All-American and captain his senior year for the South Carolina Gamecocks . . . dropped in a jumpshot at the buzzer to beat Marquette 60-58 his senior year . . . was a history major.

Personal: Brian and his wife Julie reside in suburban Wauwatosa, Wisconsin . . . Brian completed course requirements and was awarded his Master of Education at South Carolina the summer of 1980 . . . comes from family that includes two brothers and two sisters — both his parents and sisters are educators in New York City — one brother is a geologist and the other a basketball coach . . . NBA All-Rookie team in 1975 . . . two time NBA All-Star . . . sports a full beard during the season.

BUCKS SET ALL-TIME ATTENDANCE RECORDS IN 1980-81

The Milwaukee Bucks completed the 1980-81 regular season with 24 consecutive sellouts and eclipsed their all-time attendance records set in the 1979-80 season. Through 41 home dates last season, the Bucks drew a total of 448,366 fans for an average of 10,936 or .989% capacity including 35 of 41 sellouts. Two seasons ago, the Bucks drew an average of 10,902 fans for a total of 446,972 or .997% capacity including 39 total sellouts. The increase was possible due to the addition of 114 seats in the end zone sections and the north end of the middle parquet.

Interestingly enough, this continues a trend that began during the 1977-78 season for the Bucks. In each season over the past four, the Milwaukee Bucks have bettered their previous records, each of which were all-time highs.

Three records were not broken however. They are; in percent of capacity (.989% this year as compared with .997% last season), total sellouts (35 this year as opposed to 38 last season), and number of consecutive sellouts (24 this season and 38 last). Two years ago the Bucks failed to fill only 1,486 seats the entire season. That figure last season totals 4,766.

Through the first 13 years of the franchise, the Bucks have drawn a regular season total of 5,070,926 over 504 games for an average of 10,061 or 92% capacity.

Although the Bucks are housed in the smallest arena in the NBA (New Jersey is moving into Meadowlands that will seat 19,800), the club ranks among the top ten in the NBA in average attendance.
